

THE WEATHER

Light to moderate south-east winds. Fair.
Noon Temp. 83.2 degrees. Noon Humid.
66 p.c.

CHINA

Established 1845

No. 37504

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1959.

LATE FINAL

BOOK NOW ON
PAN AM JETS
TOKYO to
Honolulu—San Francisco/Los Angeles
For Reservations, Phone 37031
PAN AMERICANComment
Of The
DayBank Move On
Interest Rates

BY raising interest rates in the case of a few of its clients, the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank has given the local share market warning that it will not tolerate heavy speculative buying — a trend which has been developing in recent weeks. There has been some immediate effect, judging by yesterday's business. Turnover fell sharply in the morning but picked up in the afternoon and it may not be possible to assess the full effect of the Bank's action until the end of the week.

What it has done is to advise a few of its clients — mostly share brokers, it seems — that it will now cost them more to borrow money. In a city like Hongkong where economic restrictions are rare and where there is no Government central bank to make orders in the name of a supreme economic authority, such a move is bound to be resented and unpopular by those who feel the effect indirectly. But as the Bank's money is partly involved in this speculation, the Bank has the right to say how its money will be employed — and protected.

Order

Mr Justice Scholes dismissed a counter-claim by Mr Henrique Lelito, the Sonja's owner, the crew members were not entitled to back wages because they attempted to smuggle illegal immigrants into Thailand.

Mr Justice Scholes said in his judgment he believed that the two plaintiffs — Chan Kuan, Chan Wing-yuen, Wu Bing-chong, Man Tim and Hartland Fung — all knew their vessel was carrying illegal immigrants but he added he was not satisfied that they were involved in smuggling themselves.

Order

Mr Justice Scholes dismissed a counter-claim by Mr Henrique Lelito, the Sonja's owner, the crew members were not entitled to back wages because they attempted to smuggle illegal immigrants into Thailand.

Mr Justice Scholes ruled that the crew members signed on the Sonja at the end of June, 1956.

The Sonja sailed under charter to the Yick Yuen Shipping Company, early in July for Bangkok. She stopped in Macao waters and took aboard about 50 illegal immigrants but transferred

MARGARET'S
SECRET
WEEKEND

London, Nov. 2. Princess Margaret spent a quiet three-day weekend as the guest of the tall Mr Alan Godsal at his 2,500-acre estate in Berkshire 30 miles from London — the man who retrieved Princess Margaret's slipper at a London ball a few days ago.

Unlike many Royal weekends, this one was kept secret. So much so, in fact, that word of it did not leak until today in the London Evening News.

NO COMMENT

The Princess's official residence, Clarence House, refused immediate comment on the celebrated weekend. Even locals in the town of Twyford, near Mr. Godsal's house, Haines Hill, heard only by accident that the Princess was weekending with the high Sheriff of Berkshire.

One spokesman close to the Royal Family said it should surprise no one that the Princess, an unwed 28, should want to get away from her social surroundings once in awhile "with a man or her age."

The Princess arrived on Friday afternoon. She and her attractive escort, whose favorite sports are hunting and yachting, attended the opening of the Garter Hunt today.

Mr R. W. S. Winter.

Mr Justice Scholes said he did not accept the contention of the plaintiff's that the ship's crew was not entitled to claim against the ship because of its detention for illegal activities.

He agreed it was possible the ship was arrested but he said he was not satisfied on the evidence that it actually was arrested or detained by Thai authorities.

Originally, 10 crew members of the Sonja claimed against the ship. But two withdrew their actions and Mr Justice Scholes dismissed claims of three others who failed to appear in court.

Mr Lelito was represented by Mr R. W. S. Winter.

5 SEAMEN AWARDED
$16,000 BACK PAYShip Delayed
In Bangkok
For Two Years

Five seamen today won an Admiralty Court claim for a total of $16,000 against the motor vessel Sonja, which remained in Bangkok two years after Thai authorities alleged it transported 87 illegal immigrants to Thailand in 1956.

Mr Justice A. D. Scholes ruled that the seamen were entitled to back wages from August 1, 1956, until the dates of their return to Hongkong at various times in 1957 and 1958. Four should also be reimbursed for their air fares from Bangkok to Hongkong.

Mr Justice Scholes said in his judgment he believed that the two plaintiffs — Chan Kuan, Chan Wing-yuen, Wu Bing-chong, Man Tim and Hartland Fung — all knew their vessel was carrying illegal immigrants but he added he was not satisfied that they were involved in smuggling themselves.

Order

Mr Justice Scholes dismissed a counter-claim by Mr Henrique Lelito, the Sonja's owner, the crew members were not entitled to back wages because they attempted to smuggle illegal immigrants into Thailand.

Mr Justice Scholes ruled that the crew members signed on the Sonja at the end of June, 1956.

The Sonja sailed under charter to the Yick Yuen Shipping Company, early in July for Bangkok. She stopped in Macao waters and took aboard about 50 illegal immigrants but transferred

Insufficient Pay

During their stay in Bangkok, crew members were not paid sufficient money and sold oil and ship's fittings to maintain subsistence. The money they were paid in Bangkok and the allowances paid their relatives were deducted from their claims against the ship.

Giving judgment for the plaintiffs, Mr Justice Scholes ruled that Chan Kuan, Wu Bing-chong, Man Tim and Hartland Fung all were entitled to back wages from August 1, 1956, until their return to Hongkong in 1958. He also said they should be reimbursed for their air passages home, which they financed themselves. The third engineer, Chan Wing-yuen, should be paid wages for the whole of his two years in Bangkok.

Satisfied

"I am satisfied on the evidence that each of the plaintiffs did not cease to be of service to the ship until he returned to Hongkong and that each was ready to do what was required for the ship during that period..." the judge said. He said he was also satisfied they had received no wages during the periods for which they had claimed, other than food allowance and remittances to their relatives in Capri.

Dismissing Mr Lelito's counter-claims, Mr Justice Scholes said he was "not satisfied on the evidence that any of the plaintiffs caused a breach of terms of service contained in the ship's articles, that any of the plaintiffs attempted to smuggle illegal immigrants into Thailand, and that the services of any of the plaintiffs were determined prior to their return to Hongkong."

Not Accepted

Mr Justice Scholes said he did not accept the contention of the plaintiff's that the ship's crew was not entitled to claim against the ship because of its detention for illegal activities.

He agreed it was possible the ship was arrested but he said he was not satisfied on the evidence that it actually was arrested or detained by Thai authorities.

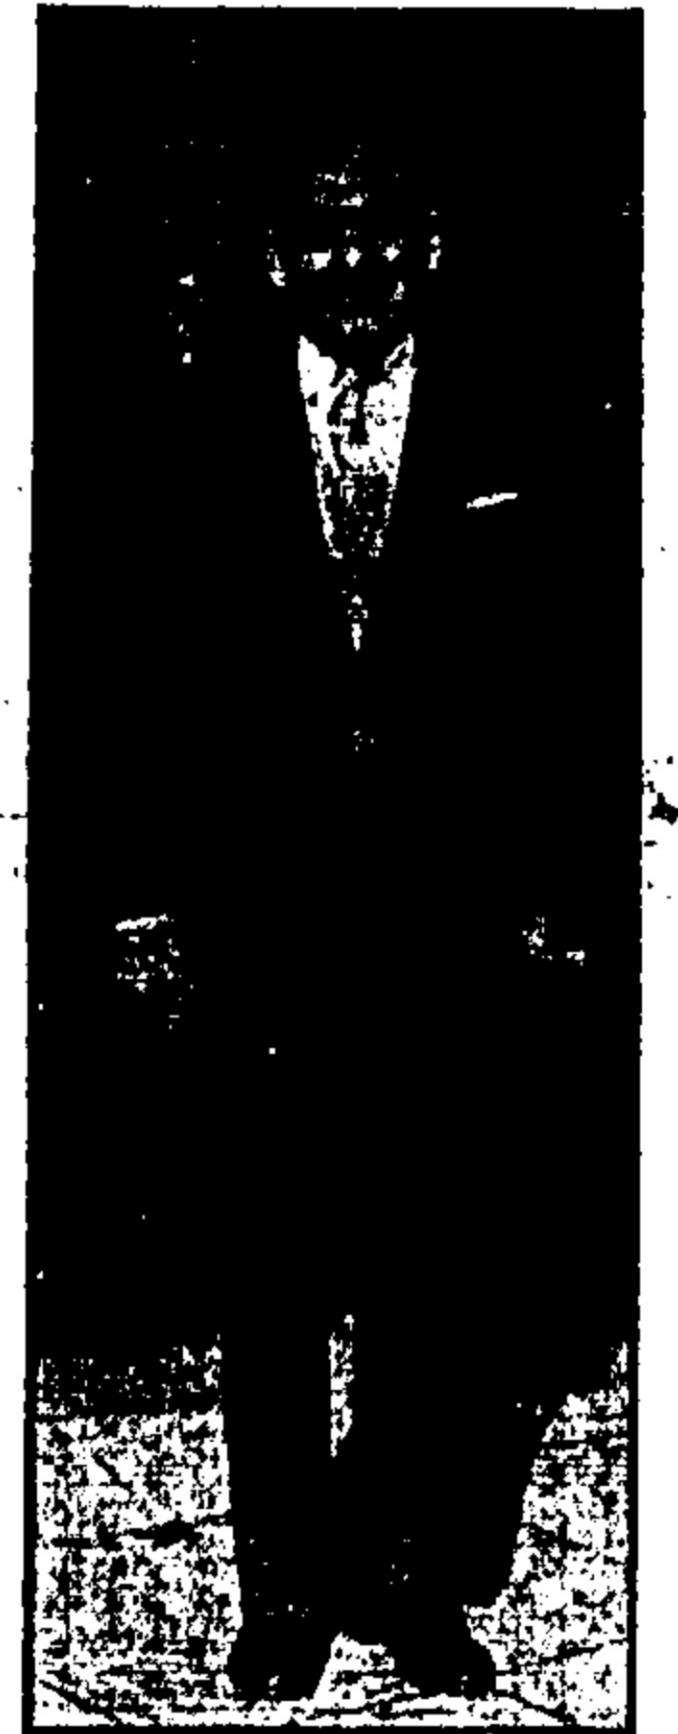

Originally, 10 crew members of the Sonja claimed against the ship. But two withdrew their actions and Mr Justice Scholes dismissed claims of three others who failed to appear in court.

Mr Lelito was represented by Mr R. W. S. Winter.

OBE Recipients

Mr E. G. A. Grimwood (left), Hongkong Government officer in London, and Express cartoonist, Giles, pictured above with his wife, were recent recipients of the insignia of the OBE from the Queen at Buckingham Palace. Mr Grimwood was honoured for services to the Hongkong Government over the past 14 years.

Mr I. T. Morris at Central Magistracy this morning exercised his power under Section 35 of the Magistrate's Ordinance and dismissed a summons for overparking against Mrs H. M. Szczepanik, wife of the senior lecturer in economics and political science, University of Hongkong.

Sub-Inspector M. Atkinson, prosecuting, said Mrs Szczepanik's private car, XX4384, was found parked in a meter space in Connaught Road Central at 5.45 p.m. on August 6.

The meter did not exhibit a sign indicating that payment had been made for the parking space.

PLEADS GUILTY

Mr F. X. D'Almada, of D'Almada and Mason, pleaded guilty on behalf of the defendant. He said his client had in fact put two 50-cent coins into the meter and expected that she could leave her car there for four hours.

"But after putting the second coin into the machine she noticed that she was still only allowed to park her car there for two hours. She realized that there was a mechanical defect in the meter," he said.

As she was in a hurry for an appointment she left the car there," Mr D'Almada said.

"On such grounds I would ask Your Worship to dismiss the summons under Section 35 of the Magistrate's Ordinance."

No Record
Of Mature's
Marriage

Naples, Nov. 2. The authorities in Naples and Capri today expressed astonishment at reports that film star Victor Mature married secretly in Capri in September.

Mature was quoted in U.S. newspapers as saying that he married 25-year-old Joy Urwick, daughter of a well-known London doctor, in a secret ceremony.

The mayors, priests and the pastor of Capri and Anacapri, the two villages which make up the island of Capri, all denied today having celebrated any such marriage.

There was no record of the ceremony with the United States or British Consulates in Naples.

The marriage was to be Miss Urwick's first. Mature has been married twice.—UPI.

THE HUNT IS ON FOR

Oxford, Nov. 2. Police searched through the midlands today for the kidnaped bullock Ferdinand whose good looks have so far been his downfall. They stopped and searched lorries on the roads, visited farms hoping to spot the bullock with the "pretty" profile seen in the past week by thousands in the newspaper and on television. Ferdinand, pedigree bull, condemned to death in his prison because his gentle face made him "unsuitable for breeding," was reprimanded when the agricultural authorities allowed him to be bought by the Daily Mirror, on condition that he was castrated.

But his new life of ease was rudely shaken on Saturday when kidnappers whisked him away from a farm at Wallingford near Oxford, leaving behind a note demanding ransom in the form of a con-

Solicitor's Plea
For A Man
With Troubles

A solicitor, Mr W. I. Cheung, made a special plea for compassionate treatment for a man in a case before the Tenancy Tribunal this morning.

The Queen
To Forgo
Christmas
Shopping

London, Nov. 3. Queen Elizabeth's physicians have ordered her to forgo one of her greatest delights — Christmas shopping — because of her pregnancy, it was disclosed on Monday.

It is her once-a-year custom to go shopping for Christmas presents in the big Knightsbridge stores. Every other woman in her realm can shop anytime she desires. But since the Queen never buys for herself court etiquette confines her to a Christmas-time gift shopping spree.

This year, her physicians have recommended that she stay away from the stores since she is expecting her third baby in January or February — the exact time has not been announced. All crowded places were banned lest she run the risk of infection. Both measles and influenza are prevalent in London at present.

It was believed she would have to turn over her Christmas shopping list to ladies-in-waiting and let them buy the gifts for her.

END TO TOURS

Meanwhile the Daily Mail today forecasts an end to strenuous tours for Queen Elizabeth, such as last summer's six weeks in Canada and her visit to Australia in 1954.

The newspaper says "after the Canadian tour her doctors, who had already wanted to cut tours to three weeks, were determined that she should never do anything like it again."

"Now, in the new look for Royal tours, Palace officials are considering reducing Commonwealth trips to three weeks."

The Daily Mail also forecasts new rules for etiquette and protocol, including an end to long lines of handshaking, "one of the most exhausting of tasks imposed on the Queen" and a cutting of "white stops" to a minimum.—UPI and Reuter.

Check On
HK Books

Bangkok, Nov. 2. The English-language newspaper Bangkok World reported today that Lt-General Prasert Rushirawong, Deputy Chief of Police, has ordered a check on books and periodicals from Hongkong for hidden Communist propaganda.—Reuter.

FERDINAND

Kuwait, Nov. 2. The campaign organizers know nothing about the stunt. The Daily Mirror today received a second ransom note for Ferdinand.

The note signed "The Resistance" contained three photographs which purported to be of the bullock. The ransom envelope and photographs have all been sent to Scotland Yard. — China Mail Special.

Secretly Coached
TV Quiz
Entrants

Washington, Nov. 3. House investigators were told today that Miss Shirley Bernstein secretly coached contestants on the now-defunct TV quiz show "The $64,000 Challenge."

Two former contestants told that Miss Bernstein, who helped produce the show, supplied them in pre-show "warm-up" sessions with answers to one or more questions which they later were asked on the programme.

The charges were levelled by the Rev. Charles E. (Stoney) Jackson, Tennessee preacher, and in a signed statement from Wilton J. Springer, of New York City, which was read into the Congressional hearing record.

Jackson also testified that he was strongly tempted during an appearance on "Challenge" on December 29, 1957, to blurt out that it was rigged.

BULLET-RIDDLED BODY

He didn't, he said amid laughter, because "I could see my bullet-riddled body as I passed an alley somewhere." He later conceded his statement probably was an exaggeration.

Both Jackson and Springer said Miss Bernstein never told them they would be asked the same questions on the show that were put to them. In the "warm-up sessions" they said this came as a surprise to them. Miss Bernstein's relationship to the composer was not mentioned.

Jackson won $4,000 on the programme on December 29, 1957, after winning $18,000 on "The $64,000 Question."

Springer won $4,000 in two appearances—March 10 and March 23, 1958—on "Challenge." —UPI.

University
Professor
Resigns

New York, Nov. 2. Columbia University today accepted the resignation, effective immediately, of Mr Charles Van Doren, the young assistant English professor who revealed today he had given the answers beforehand when he won $129,000 on a television quiz show.

Mr Van Doren had told Congressional investigators in Washington earlier that he had offered his resignation, but did not know whether the University had decided to accept it.

The announcement that it had been accepted was made without comment by Dr Grayson Kirk, the University President. He did disclose, however, that the University trustees had studied Mr Van Doren's testimony in Washington today.—Reuter.

Two Hurt In
Firecracker
Factory
Explosion

Two men were seriously burnt when a powder-mixing room of a firecracker factory in Macao, blew up shortly after 9 a.m. yesterday. The two workers, Chen Chat, 41, and Li Fuk-heung, 39, dashed out of the inferno like human torches and rolled on the ground in pain.

Their coats were charred. A huge ball of fire blew the roof off the mud-chewed and the walls collapsed.

A third worker, So Poil, 47, who left the room shortly before the blast, was slightly hurt when he tripped in his hurry to escape.

KING'S PRINCESS

★ OPENING TO-DAY ★
4 SHOWS 2.30, 5.15, 7.20 &
9.30 p.m.
3 SHOWS ONLY
2.30, 5.30 &
7.30 p.m.

GALA PREMIERE
TO-MORROW AT 9.30 P.M.

Advance Bookings Now Open!

ROXY & BROADWAY

★ SHOWING TO-DAY ★
AT 2.30, 5.30, 7.30 & 9.30 P.M.
WOMEN . . . AT THE MERCY OF A GUERRILLA WAR LORD!

GALA PREMIERE ON THURS., 5th NOV.
AT 9.30 P.M.

Here's to us, success, love, marriage and the best of every-thing. And here's to MEN....BLESS THEIR CLEAN-CUT
FACES AND DIRTY LITTLE MINDS!

BOOKINGS NOW OPEN!

CAPITOL

FINAL SHOWING TO-DAY
At 2.30, 5.30, 7.30 & 9.30 p.m.

20
PRESENTS FOR LIFE
WITH A
SONG IN MY HEART
TECHNICOLOR

STATE

OPENING TO-DAY
At 2.30, 5.30, 7.30 & 9.30 p.m.

WOMAN OR SHIP—
THEY CLAIMED WHAT THEY FOUGHT THE SEAS TO WIN

60mph LIMIT FOR NEW BRITISH HIGHWAY?

London, Nov. 2. Britain's new super highway — on which there is no speed limit — may have a 60 or 70 mph limit imposed.

This followed the Minister of Transport, Mr Ernest Marples' shocked comment after seeing the road in operation for the first time.

"I'm appalled at the speeds I've seen," he gasped. "I've never seen anybody going so fast in my life!" As the calls for help mounted from broken down cars that couldn't stand the pace, it appeared that Mr. Marples and other officials already were planning to take a look at the "no speed limit" arrangement. A limit of 60 or 70 miles per hour came quickly into unofficial discussion.

Lanes Ignored

In Britain there are no speed limits on any roads outside built up areas.

But the stay-at-home motorist had never seen the like of this one, officially named "M-1", and many drivers showed their ignorance.

"One of every three cars was not even in the proper lane," Mr. Marples complained.

Earlier today Mr. Marples opened Britain's first superhighway today—a road described by cynics as the first decent one built here since the Romans—and the accidents came as fast as the cheets.

Over 100

Within the first few hours of its opening, the 32-mile, six-lane, non-speed-limit highway between London and Birmingham was littered with over-heated, over-worked cars over-driven by over-enthusiastic motorists.

Some of the earliest travellers zoomed jubilantly over the highway at rip-roaring speeds of well over 100 miles an hour.—UPI.

FAMOUS
SUBMARINE
TO BE RETIRED

London, Nov. 3. The Starling, the most famous U-boat killer slop of the last war, will end her active career on November 6, the Admiralty has announced.

Completed in 1943, the 1,470-ton Starling became the leader of the second escort group in the Western Approaches. She was responsible for the destruction of 15 German submarines, including six in one operation.

This operation was described by the then First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. A. V. Alexander (now Viscount Alexander of Hillsborough) as "one of the greatest cruises, the greatest perhaps, ever undertaken by an escort group." — China Mail Special.

U.S. To Cash In On British Boom

New York, Nov. 3. An American personal loan company is to open an office in London in an attempt to cash in on the current British hire purchase boom, the American magazine Business Week reports.

The magazine said that the Beneficial Finance Company, the second biggest U.S. "consumer finance" (small loan) company would "try to crack the booming British market" on or about December 1.

Business Week said that Beneficial hoped to reap bigger profits in Britain than in the United States, as it could borrow more cheaply from banks and charge its customers higher rates.—UPI.

Now At The
TopAshamed
Of The Flag?
No, Says
Airline

London, Nov. 2. European Airways denied today that their new-flock airliners were deliberately coloured to tone down the prominence of the displayed Union Jack.

After the first Viscount to use the brighter colour scheme—black and red—flew in passenger service during the weekend complaints were made that the large British Flag normally seen on the tail had given way to a BEA sign and that the one on the nose was considerably smaller than previously.

"It is ridiculous to suggest we are not pro-British," a Corporation spokesman said. "We are the most British of all airlines."

NO INTENTION

"We only use British aircraft and there is certainly no intention to hide in other countries the fact that we are British."

"The positioning of the flag has been changed because of the new colour scheme. We felt it was right to advertise our name on the tail—as Pan American Airways do—but it was obviously impossible to paint such a large flag on the nose."

BEA were criticised some months ago when they left the Union Jack off the cover of their timetables.—China Mail Special.

Too Many Pubs
In A Village?

Sherston, England, Nov. 2. This is the controversy that asks the question: Can a village have too many pubs?

Brewers say there are five pubs in this picturesque village. That's one to every 240 residents. Too many, they claim.

A spokesman for the Stroud Brewery said, "Our policy is fewer and better houses."

But 500 villagers signed a petition of protest. Butcher Percy Wilkins said, "With only two pubs left, the village's independence is in peril."

And the Vicar added, "closing more than half the pubs is a bit drastic." —UPI.

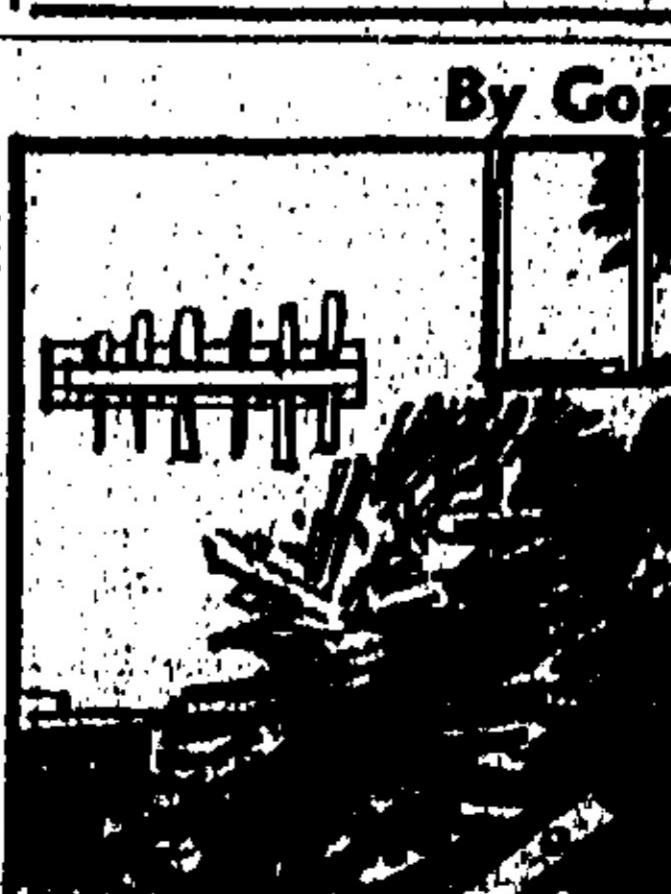

METROPOLIS • RITZ

3 SHOWS TO-DAY!
METROPOLIS: AT 2.30, 6.00 & 9.00 P.M.
RITZ: AT 2.30, 6.00 & 9.15 P.M.

ADMISSIONS: $1.20, $1.70, $2.40, $3.00 & $3.50

POP—Timber Line

LEE ASTOR

TO-DAY AT 2.30, 5.30, 7.30 & 9.30 P.M.

DIANA DORS · ANTHONY BAKER · MORGAN
Tread Softly Stranger.

NEXT CHANCE

Cliff Walker · Edward Bates · John Russell

Yellowstone Kelly

· WARNER BROS. PRESENTS · TECHNICOLOR

HOOVER GALA STAR

TEL 723711 TEL 320721 TEL 320731

TO-DAY ONLY

Hoover & Gala at 2.30, 5.30, 7.30 and 9.30 p.m.

Star at 2.45, 5.45, 7.45 and 9.45 p.m.

THE DRAMA OF AN AMAZING IMPERSONATION!

M-G-M presents
ALEC GUINNESS
in THE SCAPEGOAT
also starring
BETTE DAVIS
as The Comtesse

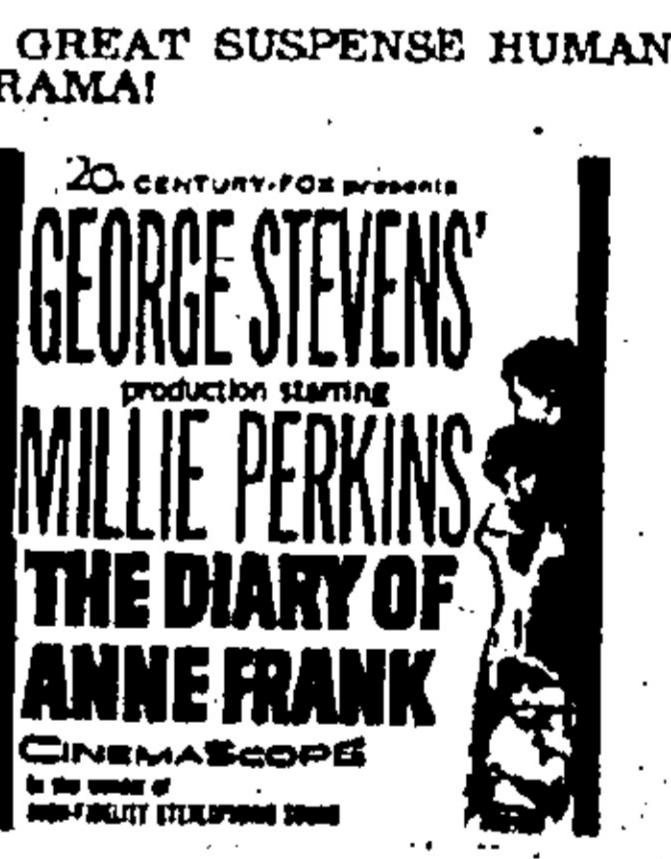

OPENING TO-MORROW

ORIENTAL MAJESTIC
AIR CONDITIONED

FINAL SHOWING TO-DAY
Due to length of films,
please note change of times!
3 Shows 2.30-5.45 & 9.15 p.m.

SHOWING TO-DAY
At 2.10, 5.20, 7.30 & 9.40 p.m.

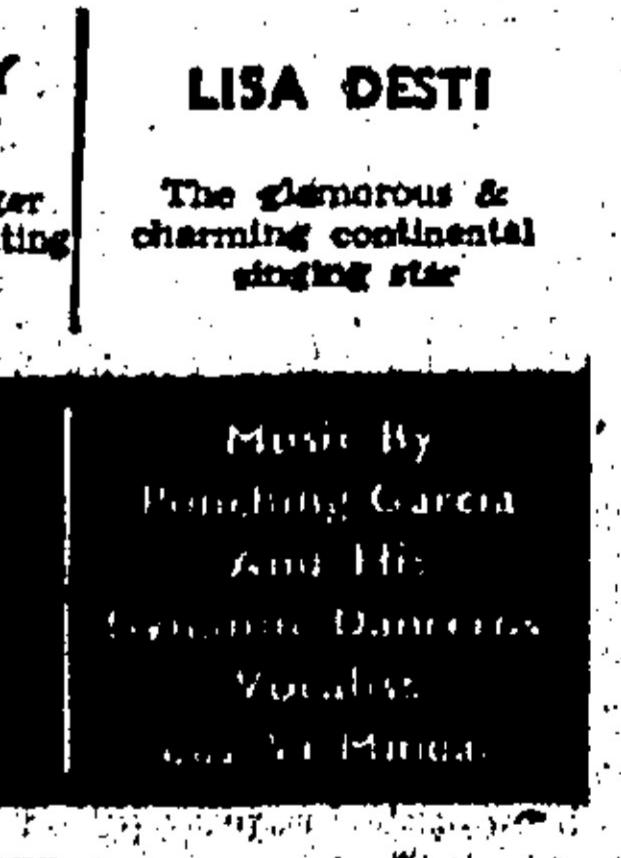

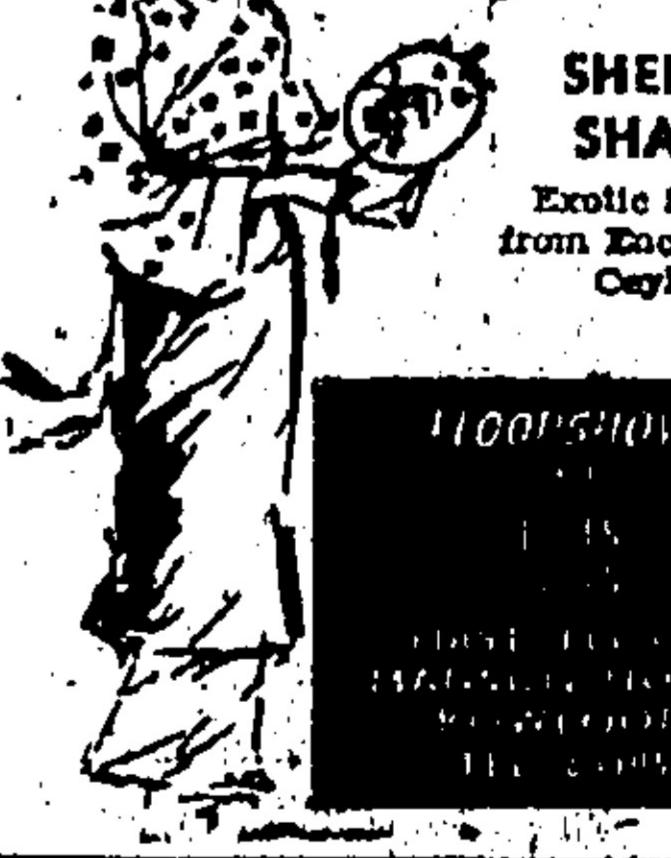

WALT DISNEY'S
MOST DRAMATIC MOTION PICTURE

Added Attractions
"PORTUGAL"
CinemaScope & Color

NEXT CHANGE
"BLUE JEANS"

THE GOLDEN PHOENIX

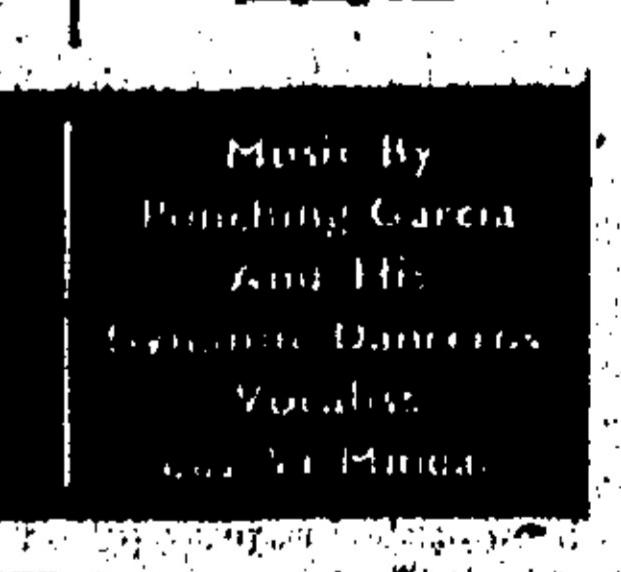

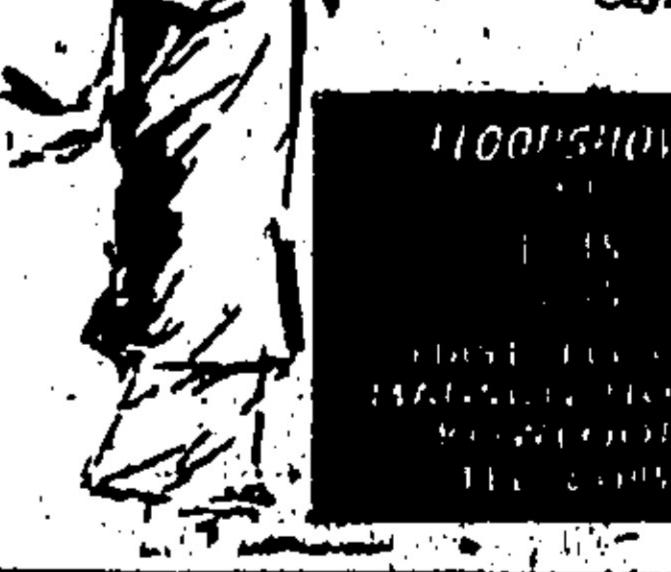

SHELLY SHAW

Exotic Singer
from Enchanting Ceylon

LISA DESTI

The glamorous & charming continental
singing star

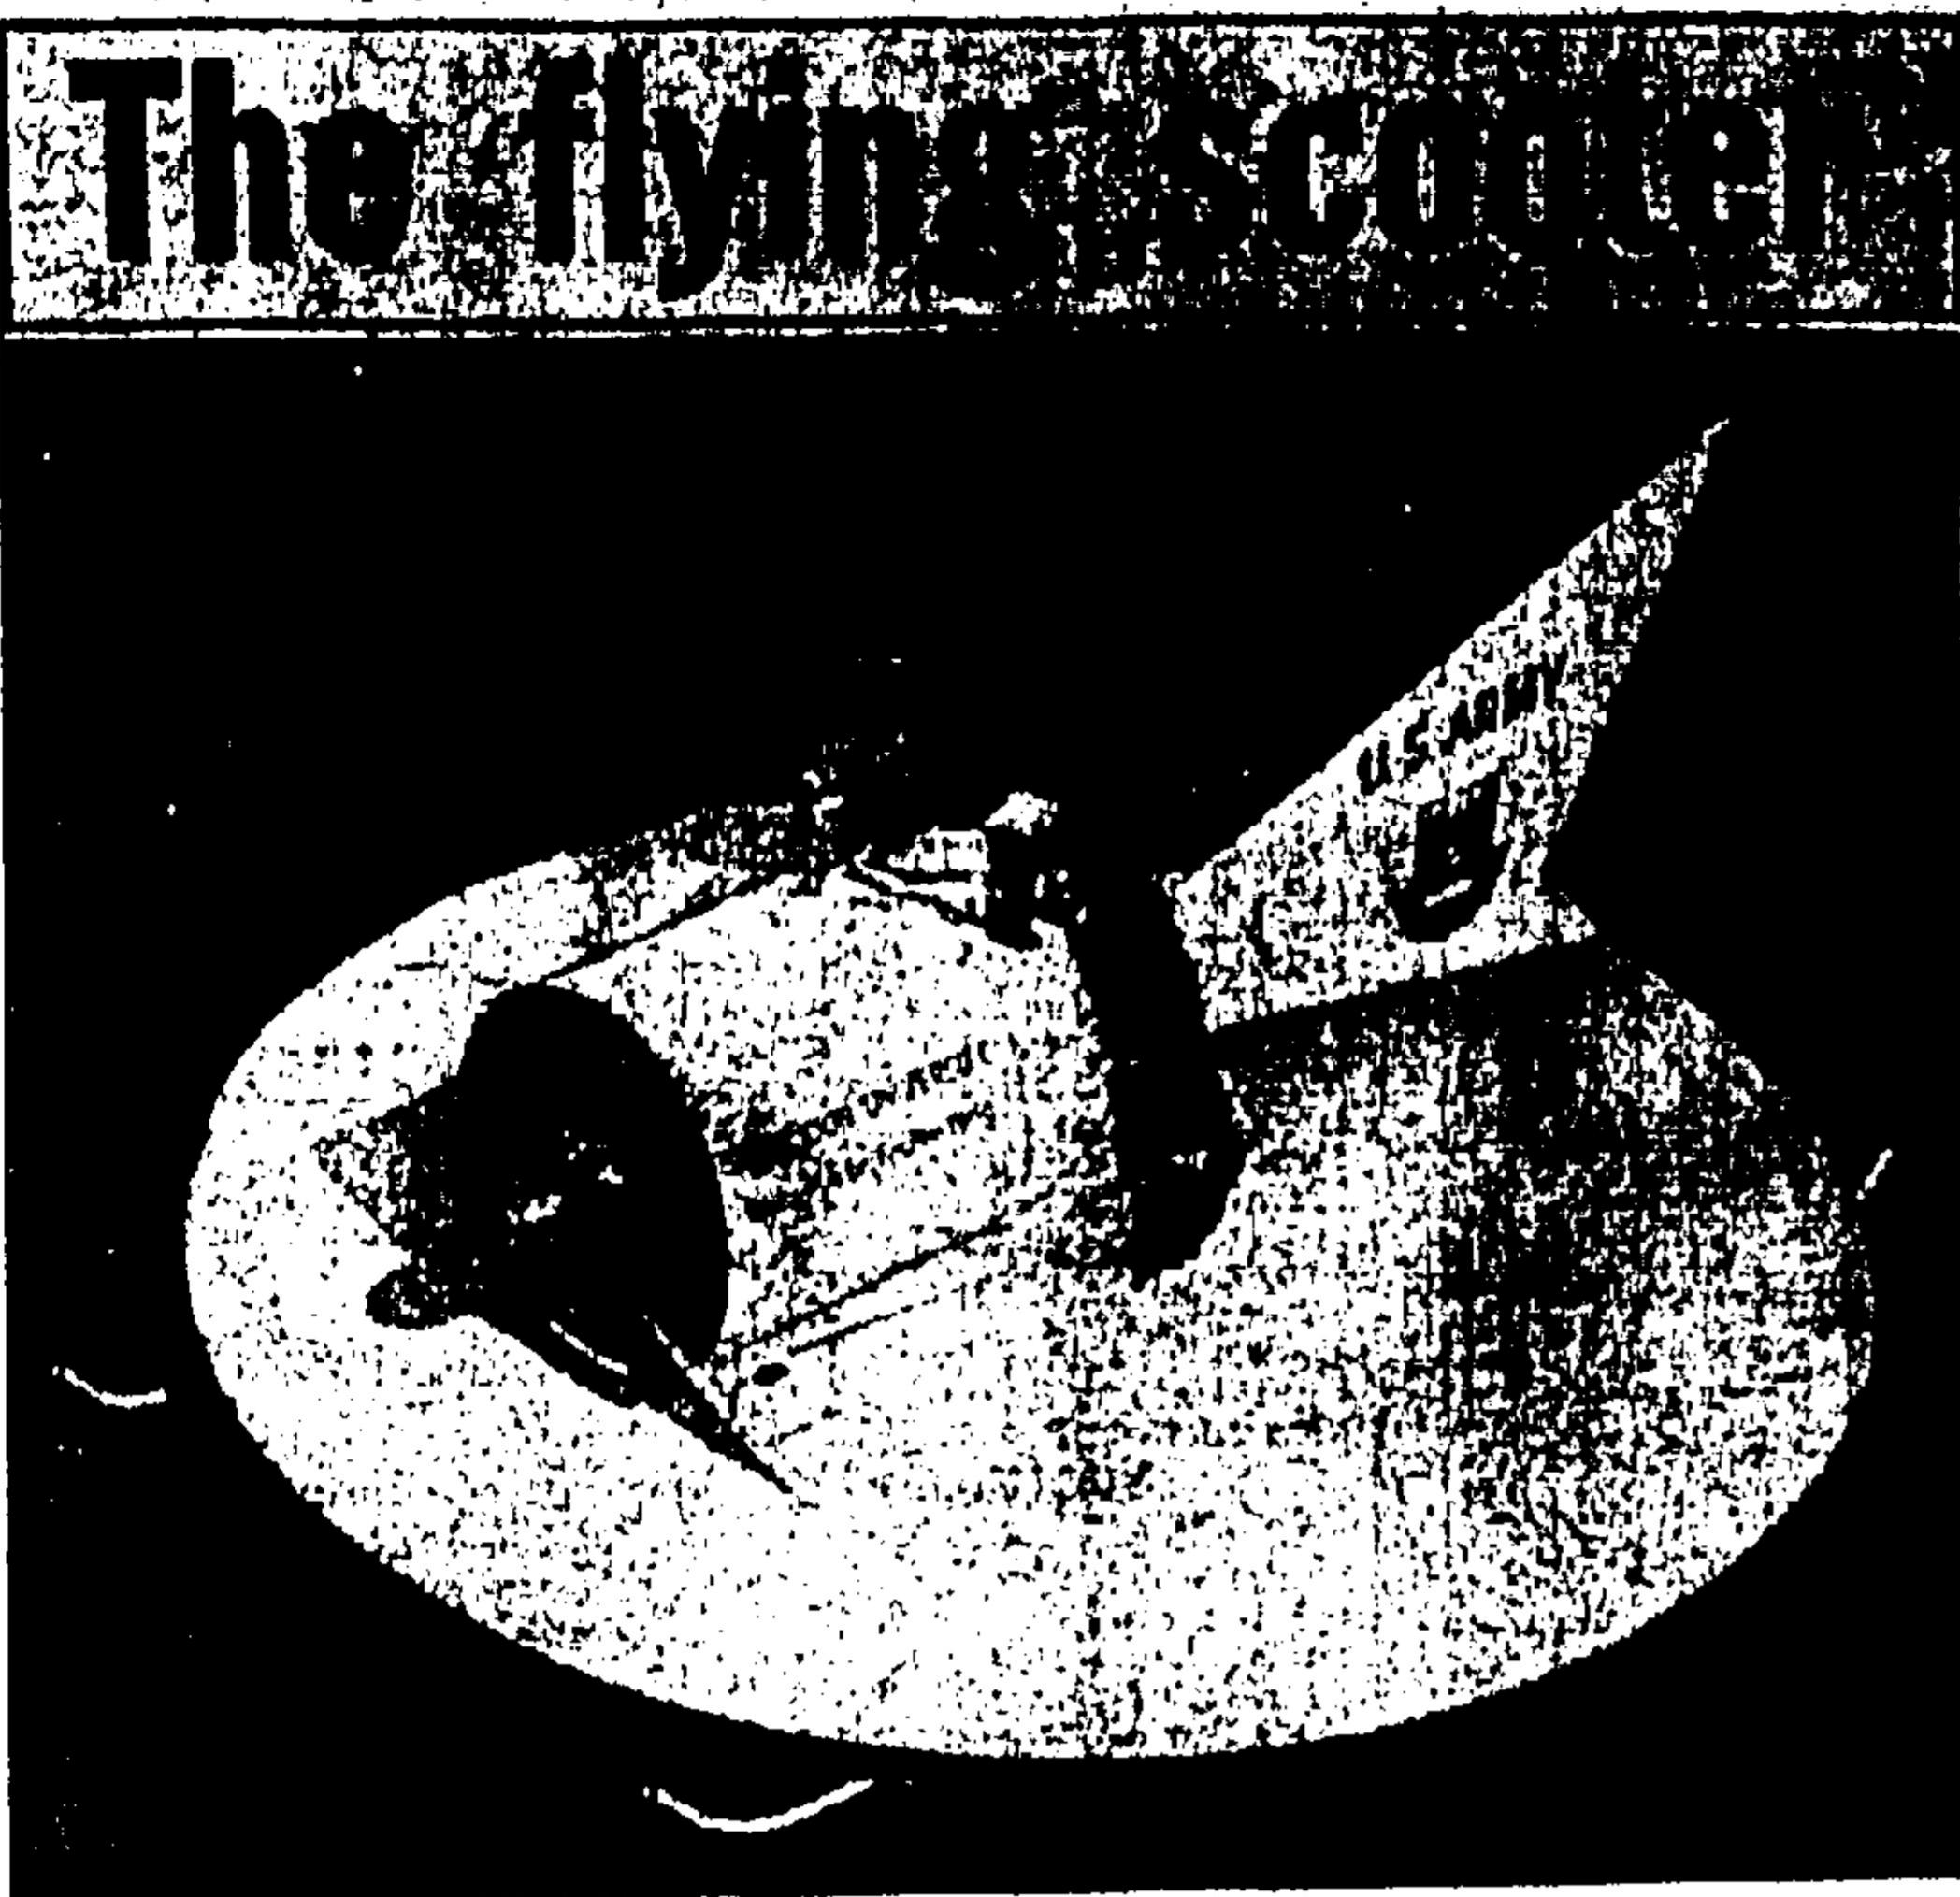

Music By
Panchal Garcia
And His
Cuban Dancers
Vocalists
and Vocalists

TO-MORROW
"THE OREGON TRAIL"

IN SCOTLAND THEY PLAY
THE BAGPIPES

AND THEY DRINK
Carlsberg

Bart Reavis, builder of the flying scooter, taking a spin around the hangar.

From OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT

New York. TWO revolutionary machines—a flying scooter and a flying saucer were unveiled recently.

The unveiling ceremony was held at Princeton University's James Forrestal Research Centre.

Both machines are the product of research and engineering teams headed by Professor Courtland D. Perkins, Chairman of Princeton's Aeronautical Engineering Department.

The new flying scooter has a bicycle seat and handlebars above a circular base.

Operated by a five-horse-power engine, it is guided by the rider's body in the same manner as a bicycle. The way the rider leans is the way the machine will turn.

The engine powers a small propeller mounted on the scooter at right angles to the ground.

Air cushion

The propeller forces air at a speed of 30 miles an hour through a duct and into the base of the vehicle. From there it is funnelled down and shot out through a slot that circles the scooter's base.

The slot is angled toward the centre so that the escaping air forms a column to provide lift.

The scooter's top speed is 15 miles an hour, and, so far, it has gone only four inches off the ground.

Made of aluminium and fabric the 120-pound machine can carry three persons and at a four-inch altitude has six-times the lifting power of a helicopter.

The new flying saucer is a 20-foot diameter saucer which rises and moves by forcing air through vents.

Floating on Air

A 45 h.p. engine gives initial lift and 25 miles an hour forward speed by driving air through the vents around the saucer's edge.

Revived hint

The airflow is controlled by a stick and the vents are for air to go down for lift and back for forward flight.

A tail engine gives left-right control.

The saucer is the product of two young men—engineer Barry Nixon and designer Tom Sweeney.

The scooter and saucer are the result of research on the principle of VTOL (vertical take-off and landing) machines.

During VTOL experiments an old aerodynamic principle was rediscovered.

When a stream of air from a vehicle is deflected downward

Boxers test pill to beat bruises

A NEW chemical is to be tested on British boxers in the hope that it will reduce their bruises and heal cuts quickly. If trials are successful ALL British boxers will be advised: "Take one pill before entering the ring."

The drug dissolves blood clots. Until recently, it was only available in liquid form and given mostly to road accident victims.

It was injected near the wounds—with good results.

'Guinea pigs'

Twenty amateurs from Battersea Boxing Club will try the drug in pill form at a club tournament this month. Twenty more will eat dummy pills.

Injuries after the tournament of Nine Elms, Battersea, will be compared by a team of doctors led by Dr J. Blonstein, medical adviser to the British Amateur Boxing Association.

Dr Blonstein said: "We believe those who take the real pill will suffer far less bruising. The drug should prevent swellings over the eye, and cauliflower ears, and help cuts to heal much more quickly."

Two more tests

"If it works, we shall try it at two more tournaments and then probably advise boxers throughout Britain to use it."

The pill—about the size of an aspirin—has to be taken four hours before a fight, and three times daily for three days afterwards. It acts through the stomach and is absorbed into the bloodstream.

How do the Battersea "guinea-pigs" feel about it? "They are very keen," said Dr Blonstein.

"We think the drug has no side effects and is perfectly harmless."

(London Express Service)

Here It Is!

THE NEW RUPERT ANNUAL

obtainable from

SOUTH CHINA MORNING POST, LTD.
HONGKONG

KOWLOON

London Express Service.

ASSIGNMENT AFRICA!

Nairobi.

AFRICA is a continent in explosion. Roaring excitedly but bemusedly out of her Stone Age sleep, her people everywhere mainly interested in two things—nationalism and independence.

Unfortunately, the two often add up to trouble. And there is plenty of that in Africa today—actual and potential.

Practically wherever you go it is difficult to glance the possibilities for bad news are numerous and daunting.

That goes for the hitherto British territories the same as elsewhere.

The big question now is: Can we once again turn the trick of bestowing independence on people who come to it largely illiterate politically and often given to hysteria?

It was significant, though, to come across a white farmer who recognises divisions among the Highlanders themselves.

He was a rough and ready type who had no use at all for the "gentleman farmers" who lounge around in suede shoes and tell other people how to do the work."

But their job is not going to be easy.

Just to the west of here, in Uganda, there is bad trouble. There King Freddie wants to take his kingdom of Buganda and "go it alone."

Down south—more trouble. This time in the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

Dr Hastings Banda (educated in London, Scotland, and Chicago) at present under lock and key, is determined to take Nyasaland out of the federation, to protect Africans from the threat of "apartheid" policies imported by the whites of the Rhodesians from the Union of South Africa.

Dr Blonstein said: "We believe those who take the real pill will suffer far less bruising. The drug should prevent swellings over the eye, and cauliflower ears, and help cuts to heal much more quickly."

Flowers

And right here in Kenya there is trouble—big trouble.

I took a look at these now-disputed "White Highlands" the other day and—considerably travelled though I am—I can assure you that I have rarely seen such gloriously evocative country.

With colleague Donald Wise I drove past Lake Naivasha 70 miles into the heart of the mountains, 8,000 ft. up.

The land was like a flower show—strawberries, roses, the mauve blossoming jacaranda trees, bougainvillea, oleanders, almond trees in full bloom.

Well, by the terms of the new proposal, certain to become law, these glorious Highlands are to be made available to non-white farmers.

It is true that there is a proportion of Blimp and old school types up there and I do not suppose many of us shed tears over the characters who decided to duck post-war austerity in Britain for the sake of a place in the sun.

And in their heart of hearts I think that even the most belligerent of them all know that this is one place you can't turn back.

But aside from the Highlands what is the general outlook?

Sir Patrick Renison, the brand-new Governor—I flew out with him from London the other day—announces: "I am not a stranger to frustrations and disappointments and man's inhumanity to man."

It was significant, though, to come across a white farmer who recognises divisions among the Highlanders themselves.

He was a rough and ready type who had no use at all for the "gentleman farmers" who lounge around in suede shoes and tell other people how to do the work."

But I shall never believe that the Commonwealth purpose is impossible of achievement here in Kenya."

Sir Patrick is a good-looking type and he makes a good impression. But even as he was speaking I was reflecting how absurdly anachronistic is the Colonial Governor's full dress uniform these days, those plumes and that pompous, out-dated tunic.

Emotion

However, Renison is reputedly a man of energy and good-will; but he must be well aware that one of the main frustrations looming right in his path as he strives to handle this country of 6,000,000 people (including 30,000 whites and 100,000 Asians) is a glistening handsome, button-bright and vain little chieftain named Tom Mboya.

Tantilising Tom is a splendid speaker, can ham it up with the best of them and sway an emotional African crowd in practically any direction he wants to.

Tom is going to get very far with that "Commonwealth" angle with Tom.

What Tom wants—and he says it loud and clear—is independence. Says he on the touchy race question: "I reject multi-racism as a solution to our problems because I reject everything short of full democracy. One man—one vote."

And Mboya adds: "We do not demand that everything should happen overnight but we say that any change that is made must be in the direction of full democracy. I will negotiate—but not unless the people on the other side agree on the ultimate objective."

A sentiment which seems to have slight overtones of Hitler's method of "negotiating".

Well, when Mr MacLeod gets here he is going to like the scenery and the climate. What he will make of that "ultimatum" is another matter.

(London Express Service).

JAK TRIES FISHING

... Why, don't you like Wagner?

WOMANSENSE NEWS FROM LONDON

your
CHINA MAIL
horoscope.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3

AQUARIUS (January 21–February 19): In a difficult situation confronting you, it will be necessary to display your usual confident spirit without flinching.

PISCES (February 20–March 20): You are in a state of impatient uncertainty about the outcome of a risky investment.

ARIES (March 21–April 19): Although you are doing your best to defend a friend, it seems almost certain that the widespread rumours about him have some substance.

TAURUS (April 20–May 20): Without any specific reason which you could formulate, you have a strong conviction that somebody is trying to impede your progress.

GEMINI (May 21–June 21): After having been away from a certain occupation for quite a while, you will find on returning to it that you will become conversant with it again quite quickly.

CANCER (June 22–July 21): Seize the opportunity to do a certain job now while circumstances are favourable.

LEO (July 22–August 21): A person who has implicit trust in you will ask for your friendship and you should not withhold it.

VIRGO (August 22–September 22): You will earn a friend's gratitude if you will spare him the time to discuss the reasons for his recent failure.

LIBRA (September 23–October 22): Although you enjoy the company of a group of close relatives, you ought to spend some time with a variety of other people in order to widen your horizon.

SCORPIO (October 23–November 21): If you are absorbed in your own affairs to the exclusion of other people's, you are likely to gain a reputation for being too self-centred.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22–December 21): You will have to stop making excuses for your procrastination and act more promptly once you have decided what course to take.

CAPRICORN (December 22–January 20): Your ability to say the right thing to people in all walks of life makes you an excellent diplomat.

YOUR LUCKY COLOUR: If today is your birthday, look out for PALE BLUE. It ought to bring you luck.

JACOBY on BRIDGE

The hold up play is one of the most simple in bridge. It consists of refusing to win a trick at the first or second opportunity so that when you lose the lead later on the opponent who gets the lead can't do anything to hurt you.

With 10 points and a five card suit North has a very sound rule to game of his partner's opening no-trump whether he has the minimum 15 or the maximum 17 called for in the Jacoby system.

While South has a 15 point

NORTH

♦P2
♥A72
♦AQ953
♦Q865

WEST

♦KQJ74	♦1083
♥Q1053	♥J94
♦7	♦K86
♦J43	♦Q1072

EAST

♦A96
♥K86
♦J1042
♦AK9

SOUTH (D)

♦K654	♦972	♦Q953	♦A92
-------	------	-------	------

Both vulnerable

South West North East
Pass 3 N.T. Pass
Pass Pass
Opening lead—♦K

minimum, any lead but a spade will make three notrump and with the actual spade opening he does so by holding up twice.

He has to win the third spade lead but the double hold up has eliminated all danger as long as East does not have the long spades. South takes the diamond finesse. It loses but East hasn't a spade left and South winds up with nine tricks and his contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION

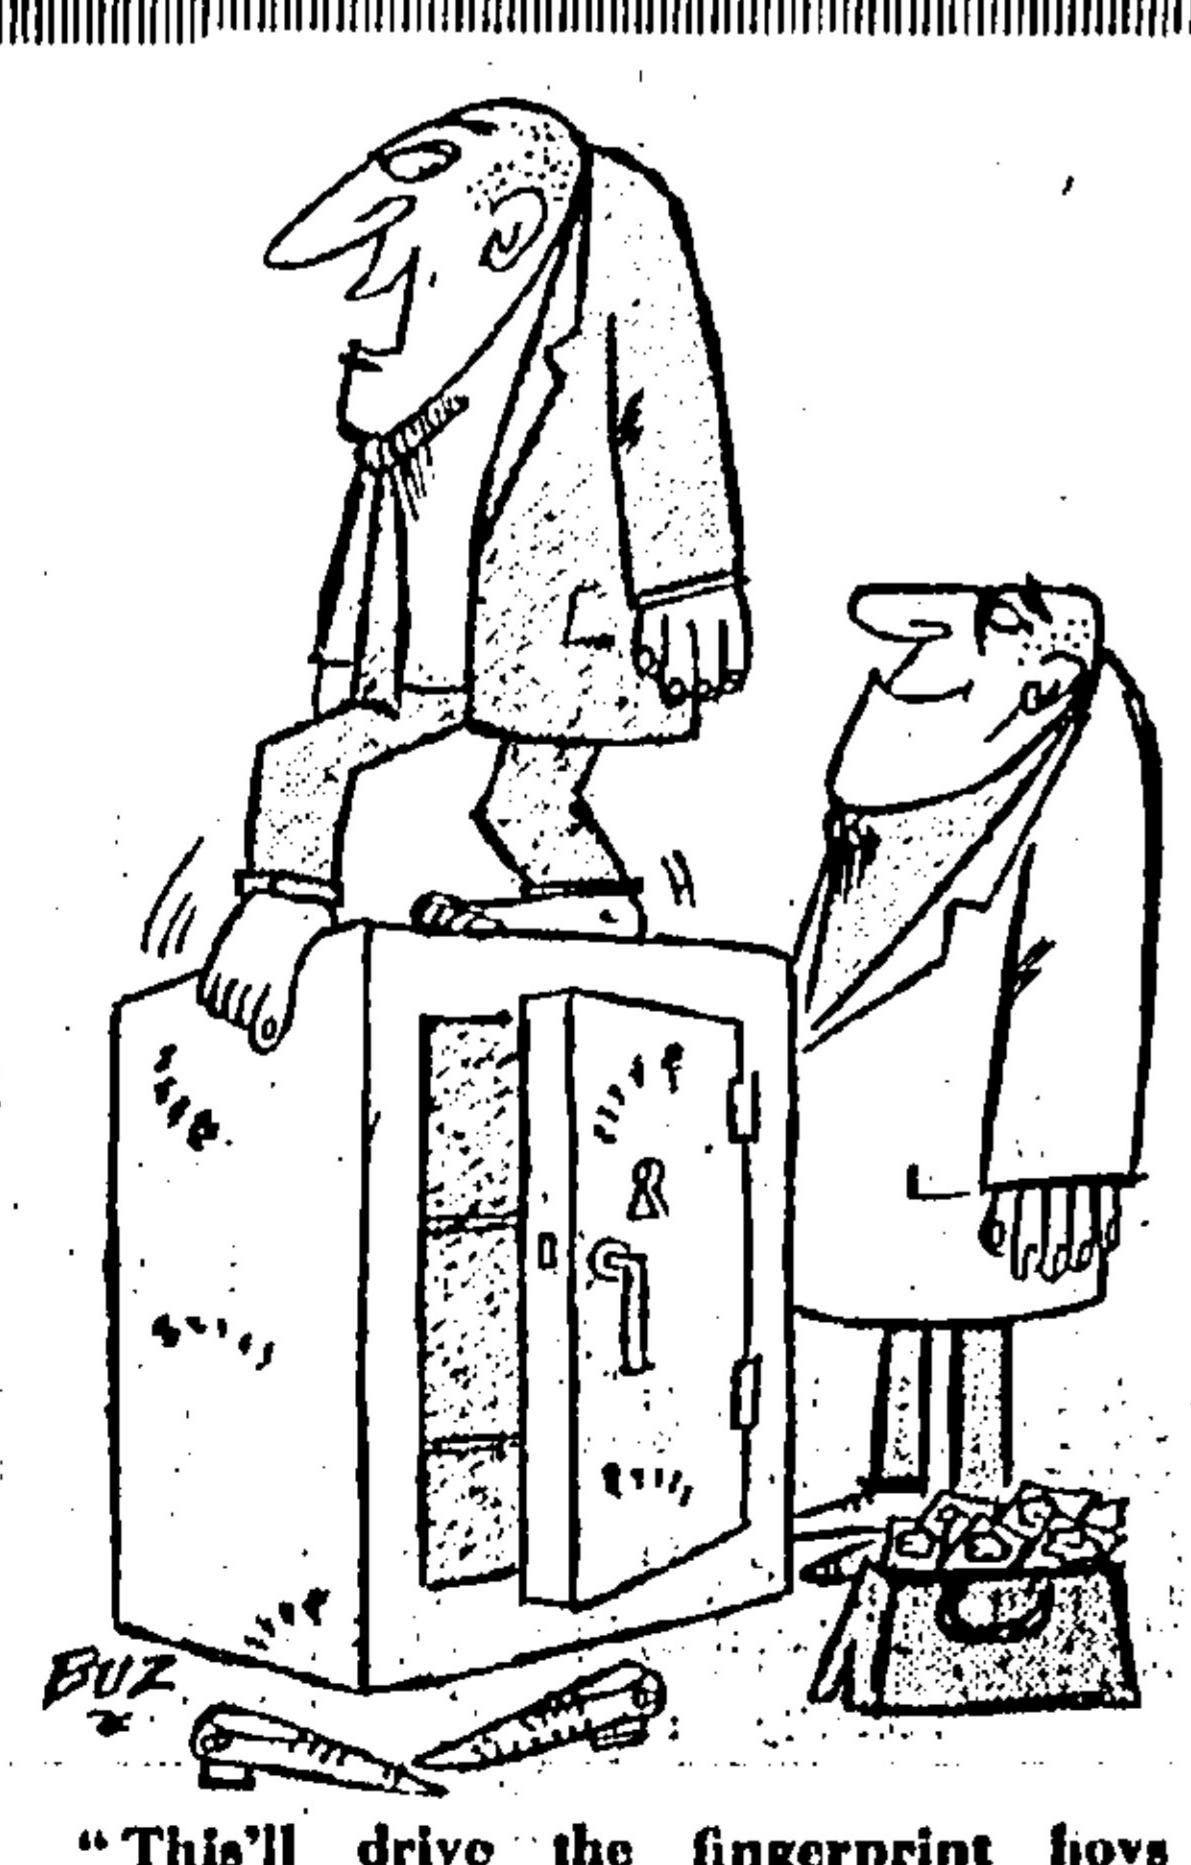

Again your partner has opened two hearts. This time you hold: ♦KJ5 ♦93 ♦J763 ♦Q1042. What do you do?

Answer tomorrow

A—Bid six diamonds. Your partner can still bid seven if he wishes to.

Again your partner has opened two hearts. This time you hold: ♦KJ5 ♦93 ♦J763 ♦Q1042. What do you do?

Answer tomorrow

"This'll drive the fingerprint boys crazy!"

IMMINENT— AN EASTERN INVASION

FASHION NEWS
FOCUS . . . by Barbara Griggs

BEFORE a month is past, a new booked-solid-for-six-months-ahead American play will have hit London.

ITS NAME: "The World of Suzie Wong." SETTING: the mysterious East (the red light district in Hongkong). HEROINE: a dark-eyed, fragile siver of a Chinese girl.

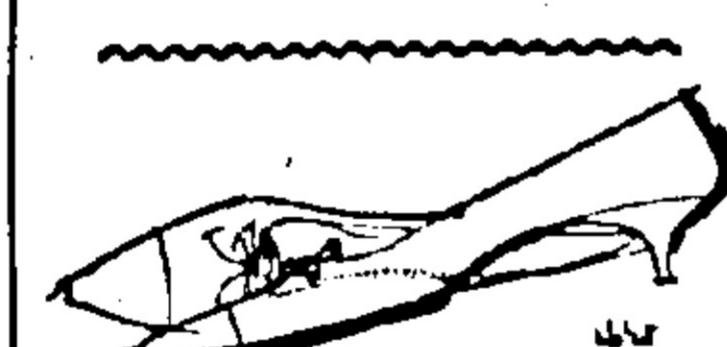

You don't have to have been an observer of fashion in the restless West for very long to know what that portends.

BEAUTIFUL BOOM

By Christmas the Oriental Look will be with us (not for the first time either).

The people who make housecoats will be turning out kimonos as fast as they can be flung together.

The people who make dresses will be snapping up brocade and turning out mandarin dresses with slits up the side.

And the cosmetics people will get to work and tell us how to achieve the Oriental Look; plucked eyebrows, lacquered back hair, pale faces and slanted eyes.

Those mysterious little Eastern shops that sell bangles and slippers and bed-spreads will enjoy a twintop for men, made in a shaggy navy and olive mixed wool, the sweater V-necked, both cardigan and sweater cut now for the first time, record, it is the men's turn.

Just out in the Paris shops is a twintop for men, made in a shaggy navy and olive mixed wool, the sweater V-necked, both cardigan and sweater cut and curved like a heart, it draws a flawless line. Get into corners as no rounded lip-stick can...

dried bumblebees will be handed round and there will not be a drop of gin.

All this nonsense will be christened, variously, the "Madame Butterly Look," the "Geisha Girl Look" or, simply, the "Oriental Look."

And if you think that this prophecy is merely the result of an overheated imagination, all I can say, grimly, is "Wait and see."

My small murmur of protest will, I realize, be entirely ineffectual.

I would like, however, to go on record now, as saying that I do not love the Oriental Look; I propose to have nothing whatever to do with it, in or out of print, and I shall remain firmly rooted in my European origins.

EAST IS EAST. CAN'T WE LEAVE IT THERE?

JUSTICE

POETIC justice has been done in France...from men's wardrobes, over the years, women have fleeced the trench coat and the chesterfield, the shirt and the trousers, the bowler and the boater, the deerstalker and the big husky sweater—right down to the cuff-sweater at the wrist.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

Now for the first time, record, it is the men's turn.

Just out in the Paris shops is a twintop for men, made in a shaggy navy and olive mixed wool, the sweater V-necked, both cardigan and sweater cut and curved like a heart, it draws a flawless line. Get into corners as no rounded lip-stick can...

and I know that, I thought, is that. Nobody now can possibly think of another new thing to do to straight and firm, and looking altogether desirable that I do not give it five minutes before it is on a woman's back again.

SPARKLE

THEY'VE thought up lip-brushes and lip-pencils, they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink and red, and several hundreds more.

They've toyed with lacquered lipsticks and indelible lipsticks with two-colour lipsticks and white lipsticks, and they've produced every variation imaginable on pink

GOLF WEEK OPENS IN THE U.S.

Ryder Cup And Celebrity Day Matches Form The Top Highlights

Palm Desert, Nov. 2. This beautiful oasis amid the burning sands of the California desert—and more specifically the swanky "El Dorado" Country Club—this week becomes the golf capital of the world as America's top 10 professionals get ready to meet their British counterparts for the Ryder Cup, symbol of Anglo-American golf supremacy.

The Ryder Cup matches on November 6 and 7 will be the climax of a week of intensive golf activity, including the famed "Celebrity Day" (Wednesday Nov. 4) in which golfdom's top performers are pitted against each other in foursomes that include the leading golfers among Hollywood's screen stars.

Such celebrities as Bob Hope, Randolph Scott, Johnny Weismuller, Ray Bolger, Dennis Morgan and others, will be seen in action. They are all better than average players.

The "Golf Week" started yesterday when the American team, headed by Sammy Snead and Doug Ford, tied for first place in the 7,500-dollar pro-member tournament. Each shot a 36-hole total of 128, four under par over the 71-par course.

Eric Brown, a Scottish member of the British Ryder Cup team, finished third with 141.

Pre-match "experting" favoured the American team to beat the British on Friday and Saturday and bring the Ryder Cup back to America.

Pre-Match Forecast

The British team won the Cup in 1957 at Lindrick (England) for the first time in the 24-year history of the competition. The British have never won on American soil.

Four doubles matches will be played on the first day and four singles on Saturday.

218.4 Miles Course Decided For The Sebring Grand Prix

Sebring, Nov. 2. The first Grand Prix of the United States, which will be held here on December 12 to decide the world's new car racing champion, will be run over 218.4 miles—or 42 laps of the winding course—the race secretary announced today.

Mr Reginald Smith, the secretary, told reporters: "We

JOHANSSON FINISHING FILM PART

Hollywood, Nov. 2. Heavyweight boxing champion Ingemar Johansson appeared before Columbia Pictures cameras today as he began the last week of his Hollywood movie appearance.

The champion lunched with former boxing champions Max Baer and Rocky Graziano on Friday before laying off for a weekend that included horseback riding in the San Fernando Valley and some down-to-earth touring in a car made available to him.

Rules

International rules require a world championship race to take at least two hours. Mr Smith said that he thought the new distance would be safe in this respect.

This will be the last Grand Prix of the 1959 season.

Jack Brabham of Australia is regarded as the leading contender for the championship at present, but either Stirling Moss or Tony Brooks, both of Britain, can overtake him.—Reuter.

Russian Trotters To Race In U.S.

Laurel Park, Nov. 2. Moscow Hippodrome director Yevgeni Dolmatov, who arrived here yesterday with Garin and Flong the two Soviet four-year-olds entered in the November 11 Washington International horse race, declared today that the Soviet Union will also participate in the international trotting race at New York's Roosevelt Raceway next year.

Dolmatov said that in the Soviet Union there were 40 per cent more harness races than flat races and that the Soviets have two excellent breeds of trotters, the "Orlov" whose origins date from 1830 and the "Russian".

Three "Orlov" horses were presented as a gift to American industrial magnate Cyrus Eaton this year, the Moscow Hippodrome director added.—Reuter.

Rally For Honda Motor Cyclists Arranged

A "Honda Rally," sponsored by the Union Trading Co., Ltd., will be held next Sunday.

Plans are being made to drive round Kowloon and the New Territories, starting at 10 a.m. and ending at Lena Lodge, Sheung Shui via Castle Peak Road, Tsuen Wan, Castle Peak, and Lantau.

At Lena Lodge riders will be entertained with a demonstration of safety riding, games and a draw for prizes. Refreshments will be provided.

In order to ascertain the number of participants to provide for proper catering and attention en route, Honda motorcyclists are requested to register at Sincere Motors Company, 2, Victory Avenue.

The Head Beats The Hand

This is how Sweden scored one of their three goals against England whom they beat 3-2 in an international soccer match at Wembley Stadium last week. Swedish centre-forward Agne Simonsson gets his head to the ball just that fraction of a second before goalkeeper Hopkinson could punch it away and sends it into the net.

This goal enabled Sweden to bring the score to 1-1 after England had led 1-0 at half-time. Further goals by Simonsson and Salomonsson took the score to 3-1. Some consolation for England came with a Bobby Charlton goal eight minutes before the end.—London Express Photo.

Brabham Says Russians Will Enter Grand Prix Racing

London, Nov. 3. Australian racing driver Jack Brabham has forecast that the Russians will enter Grand Prix racing very soon.

He told the Roadrangers' Club here: "The Russians have been to quite a number of circuits in Europe and have been watching the sport carefully and it is pretty obvious that they are very seriously thinking about it and must be entering Grand Prix racing very shortly."

The Russians, he said, were going to try to come into the open market with their cars and probably realised that motor racing would be the best way of advertising them.

WILL NOT GIVE UP

Brabham is one of the leading contenders for this year's world championship.

Answering a question, he said that if he won the championship he would not give up motor racing.

He added: "I will definitely go on next year as I like motor racing not only from the driving point of view but from the point of view of the cars."—China Mail Special.

Hat-Trick By Joe Baker

London, Nov. 2. Centre-forward Joe Baker scored a hat-trick for the Scottish first division team, Hibernian, in a friendly soccer match with English second division Middlesbrough which ended in a six-all tie at Edinburgh tonight.

Baker who will lead the attack of England's under-23 team against France at Sunderland on Wednesday, outplayed England centre-forward Brian Clough, his opposite, who scored once.—AFF.

How was he to know that, before 9.38 p.m., a preliminary palaver between the parties would be over, with Bobby Nell

A LOOK AT THE MEN WHO STAGE THE FIGHTS

LIFE'S NO BOWL OF CHERRIES FOR MR L AND MR S

British boxing promoters, Spartans in the world of sport, carriers of the banner, altruistic and patriotic to a fault, modest in success, and showing remarkable fortitude in the face of adversity, do not always rate a just reward for their endeavours on our behalf.

By

GEORGE WHITING

In a heap on an accommodating floor?

Not to worry. Mr L is now buck with the heavyweights, proudly assuring one and all that the winner of Cooper v. Joe Erskine, at Earls Court on November 17, will have official (British) permission to fight for the world title without being fined.

No Terrors

Mr L and Mr S will rustle up a world title fight for a British professional at the drop of a paragraph or the tinkle of a telephone bell. To them, the Ingemar Johansson of this world hold no terrors. Sometimes they win, sometimes they lose, but always are they on the bawl.

Mr Levene, for instance, holds his head unbowed despite recent vicissitudes in the heavy and featherweight divisions.

Did he not strike might and main for Henry Cooper to fight Floyd Patterson? And did he not switch smartly to Brian London when Cooper's manager, name of J. Wicks, mentioned his price-list?

True, Mr Levene promptly disclaimed any part of Patterson v. London when the Board of Control rumbled their disapproval and a £1,000 fine—but that strategic retreat must not be allowed to deprive Mr L of credit for the original idea. Nor was it his fault that Brian London finished second, and flat on his face, in Round 11.

Two weeks ago—up to 9.30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 20, to be precise—Mr Levene was proclaiming that he, and he alone, would see that British Bobby Nell would one day fight American Davey Moore for the featherweight championship of the world.

Baker who will lead the attack of England's under-23 team against France at Sunderland on Wednesday, outplayed England centre-forward Brian Clough, his opposite, who scored once.—AFF.

That this encounter will decide the fate of Signor Rollo's European title might have been

ENGLAND NAMES STRONG UNDER-23 SOCCER TEAM AGAINST FRANCE

London, Nov. 2. Despite an agreement with the French Football Federation that no player already "capped" for the senior international eleven be included, England's under-23 team designated today for the match against France at Sunderland on Wednesday seems—at least on paper—almost as strong as the team beaten by Sweden 3-2 at Wembley last week.

The agreement resulted in the exclusion of six members of the junior team that lost to Hungary 1-0 at Everton on September 23.

Four of these members—Chellon (Manchester United), Holliday (Middlesbrough), Graves (Chelsea) and Allen (Stoke)—all played against the Swedes on Wednesday.

Several of the players on the designated junior team, however, were candidates for the match against Sweden. One of them, Fulmer, goalkeeper Macclesfield, considered the best net tender in England, and many people were surprised at the selectors' choice of Hopkinson over him.

Captain

It was just discovered that Macclesfield, born in Gibraltar but living in England from the age of two, is not qualified to play for England in the British championship. It is thought that the English Football Association will ask for a change of the ruling.

Newcastle United's inside-left, George Eastham, son of a former English international player, was also proposed to play against the Swedes. Small but fierce, Eastham is the brain of Newcastle's attack.

Team captain Maurice Setters, right-half from West Bromwich Albion, is a dynamic footballer although somewhat noted for tackling. Setters is the junior with the most experience, while Hibernians' centre-forward, Joe Parker—leading scorer in the Scottish first division with 17 goals in nine matches—West Ham United's left-half John Smith and Southampton's outside-left John Sytheam are all 19 years old.

The other members of England's under-23 team to meet France are: Cohen (Fulham) right-back, McNeil (Middlesbrough) left-back, Peter Swan (Sheffield Wednesday) centre-half, Crowe (Leeds United) outside-right, and Dobson (Blackburn Rovers) inside-right.—AFF.

SPORTRAIT

"Nice quiet orderly crowd this afternoon"—London Express Photo.

BILLY KNIGHT DESERVES TOP-RANKING

By DEREK JOHN

The British Lawn Tennis Association are now considering their national rankings for 1959 and there is no doubt that Miss Truman will head the women's list again. But I still anticipate plenty of changes.

The girl who most deserves promotion is left-handed Ann Haydon also of world table-tennis fame. She reached the Wimbledon semi-finals for the second successive year and recently defeated Yolanda Ramirez, Mexican conqueror of top-seeded Miss Truman at Wimbledon.

I would promote Miss Haydon from third to second place in preference to Angela Mortimer at present ranked fourth despite the fact that she reached the 1958 Wimbledon final.

Not Impressive

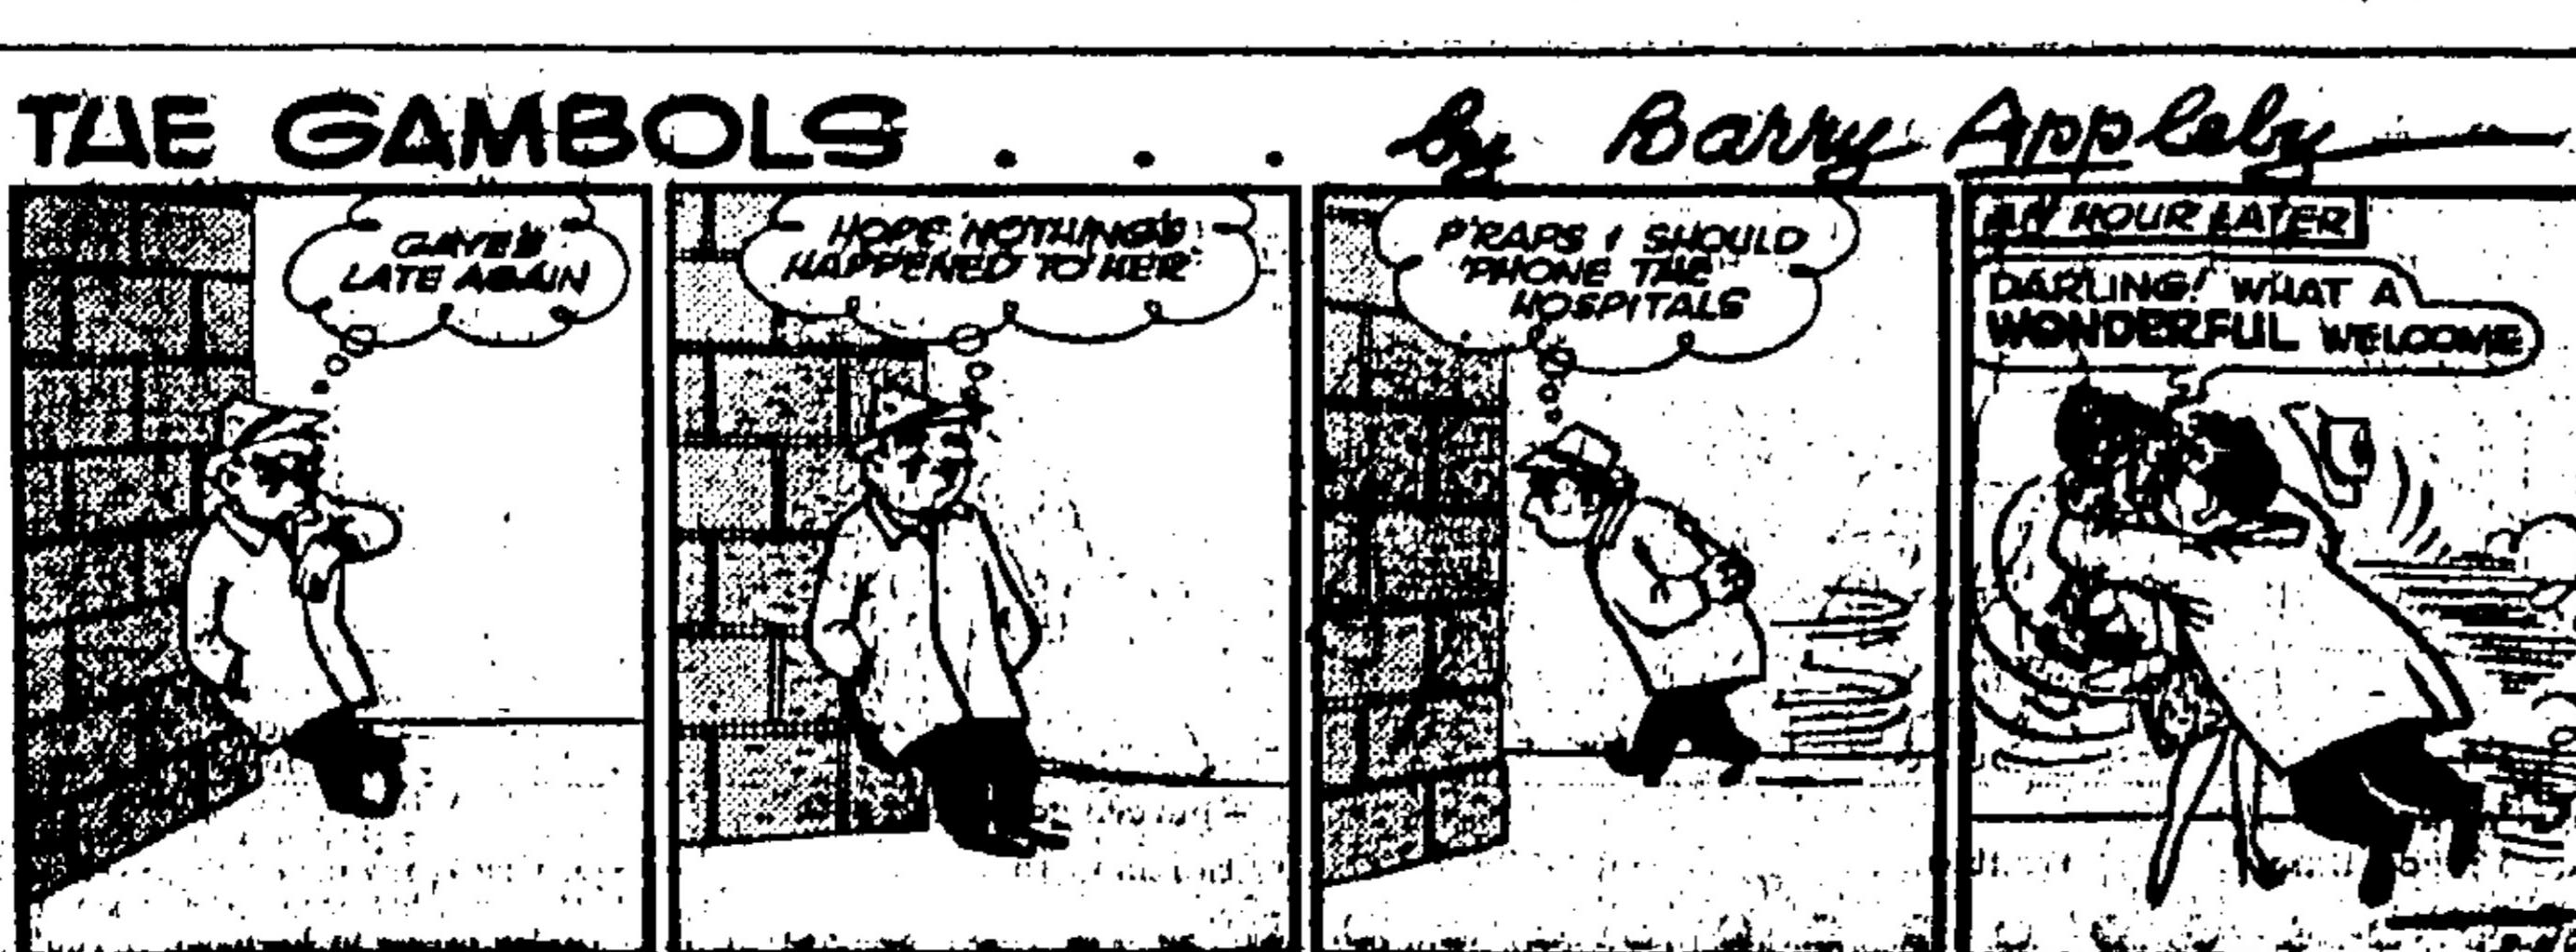

Shirley Bloomer (now Mrs Christopher Brasher) has not been impressive this season—partly due to a leg injury—but may drop from second to fourth place.

Who will become Britain's No. 1 player in the men's rankings? Mike Davies is inconsistent this year and likely to be dropped from top place.

There are two challengers for top ranking: Bobby Wilson, who failed to justify his fourth seeding at Wimbledon, and left-handed Billy Knight who fought so gallantly in the Davis Cup rounds.

Wilson is Britain's greatest stylist but he shows no signs of fulfilling his immense potential. He lacks the fighting qualities of a champion.

I feel the time has come to reward the non-heated Knight who, for all his masterful play, never stops fighting until the umpire calls "Game set and match."—London Express Photo.

"IN EGYPT — the Vulture is a thing of the past... I demand it just for you."

on the ball

with Tom Finney

Can Wolves Keep Up Their Amazing Success Story?

I watched the Wolves players run on to the field at Deepdale and suddenly I felt a little old. Wearing those famous gold shirts were youngsters I'd never seen before and only three of the "Old Guard" were left.

For this is the end of an era at Molineux and football followers the world over are wondering what lies ahead.

Now that the last real links problem is important for the severance can manager Stan Cullis continue the club's amazing success story?

In the last 15 seasons, Wolves have finished in the top three place 10 times. They have supplied a steady stream of international players and have, of course, been champions for the past two years.

It is never easy to bridge the gap from one pinnacle to the next. The break-up of a great team is so often the prelude to disappointment.

Many of the best post-war sides seemed to grow old together... Joe Harvey's Newcastle, Ronnie Burgess' Spurs and Joe Mercer's Arsenal were outstanding examples. But once the big names had gone, each club in turn drifted into the shadows for a while.

Will this happen to Wolves?

Temptation

At first glance, this may seem a strange question to ask about a side that has rarely been more than a point away from the top of the table this season. But sides do sometimes sweep on, inspired by the past, before taking the tumble from the top. So this is no guarantee of continuing success.

No, for the most logical reason to expect fresh triumphs lies in the wisdom of Stan Cullis.

It must have been very tempting for him to have continued with his famous line-up: Bert Williams (England); Eddie Stuarts (South Africa); Bill Shorthouse; Bill Sleath (England); Billy Wright (England); Ron Flowers (England); Johnny Hancock (England); Peter Brodbeck (England); Roy Swinburne (England); Dennis Willshaw (England) and Jimmy Mullen (England).

Such a team could have stayed at the top for years without making any changes.

But this was a temptation he resisted. Even when these men were at their peak, he was searching for young players to replace them.

It was the same policy, of course, that Manchester United's Matt Busby followed so successfully during the days when Johnny Carey led one of Britain's greatest ever club sides.

Scourge

Youngsters such as Duncan Edwards and Roger Byrne were already being groomed for stardom and were gradually introduced into the side so that there was always a blend of youth and experience.

Part of the success secret shared by these two managers is that they create competition for every position in the team.

Matt has been slowly rebuilding his team ever since the Munich disaster and now it's Stan's turn to face the same

Sports Diary

TO-DAY

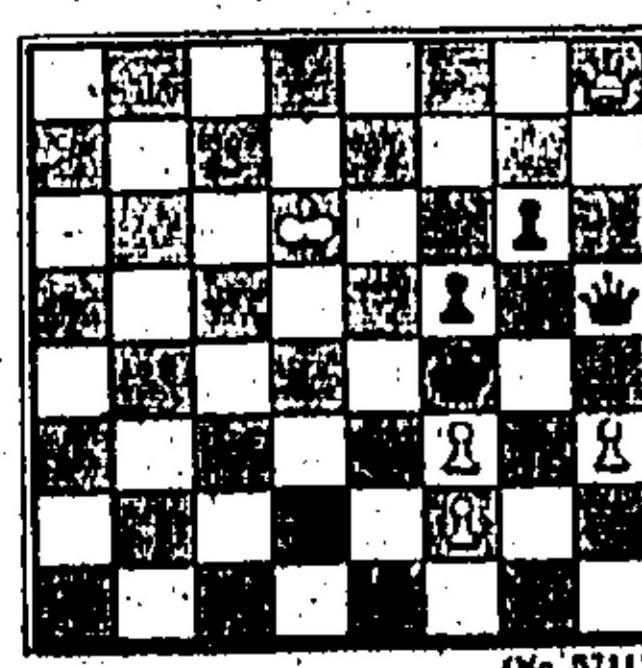

Badminton
Men's "C" Doubles: CCC v Hebreo, India Club v LRC; St Stephen's v CYMCA, HKU v Nav Bharat.

TO-MORROW

Bowls
Annual Match for the Fonsies Cup: Hong Kong Volunteers Corps v Hong Kong Volunteers Defence Corps, 7 p.m.

CHESS

by LEONARD BARDEN

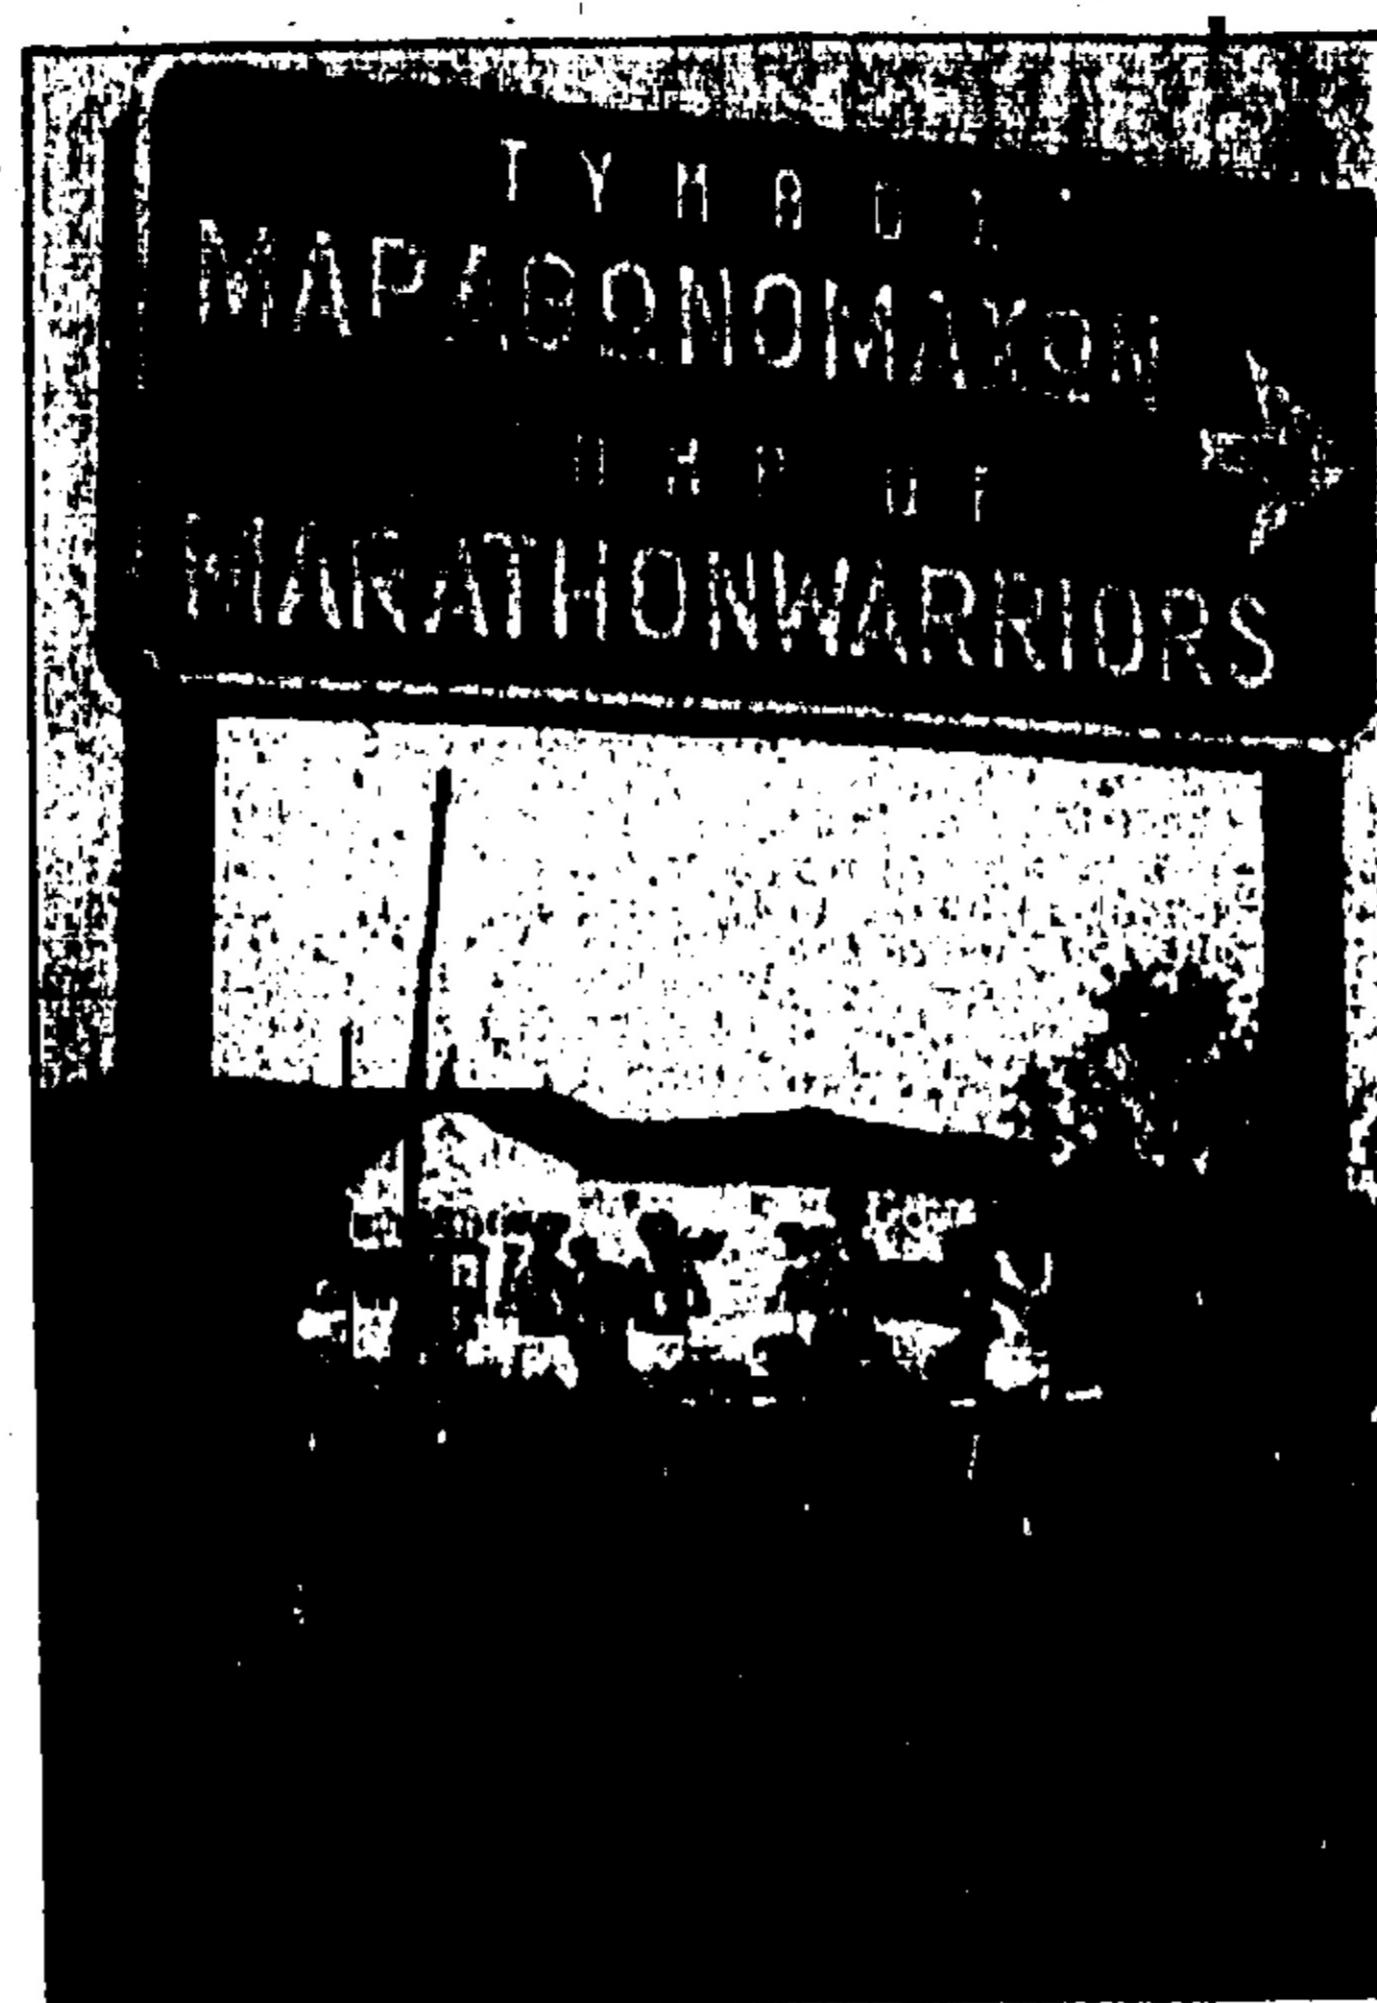

Here is an ending from actual play: White to move and win.
London Express Service.

BRICK BRADFORD

Original Marathon Repeated

Runners from eight countries last week competed in the 3rd International Classical Marathon, run over the same course that the legendary Myrmidons took to bring the news of the victory of Marathon to Athens. This was also the course used when the first modern Olympics were held in Greece in 1896. Two New Zealand runners, Julian and Baillie, made all the running in last week's race until they were passed near the end by the Finn Elmo Oksanen, who was timed to the finishing tape in the Panathenaic Stadium in 2 hours 26 minutes 30 seconds. The countries which took part were: Italy, West Germany, New Zealand, Finland, Austria, Yugoslavia, Switzerland and Greece.

Photo shows the runners passing the historic tomb of the warriors killed at Marathon, some 22 miles from Athens. Here Stoyanovic of Yugoslavia (who gave up shortly after) is leading, followed by Julian, Oksanen, Kotilda (Finland), Baillie and Jukka (Finland).—London Express Photo.

OFF THE CUFF

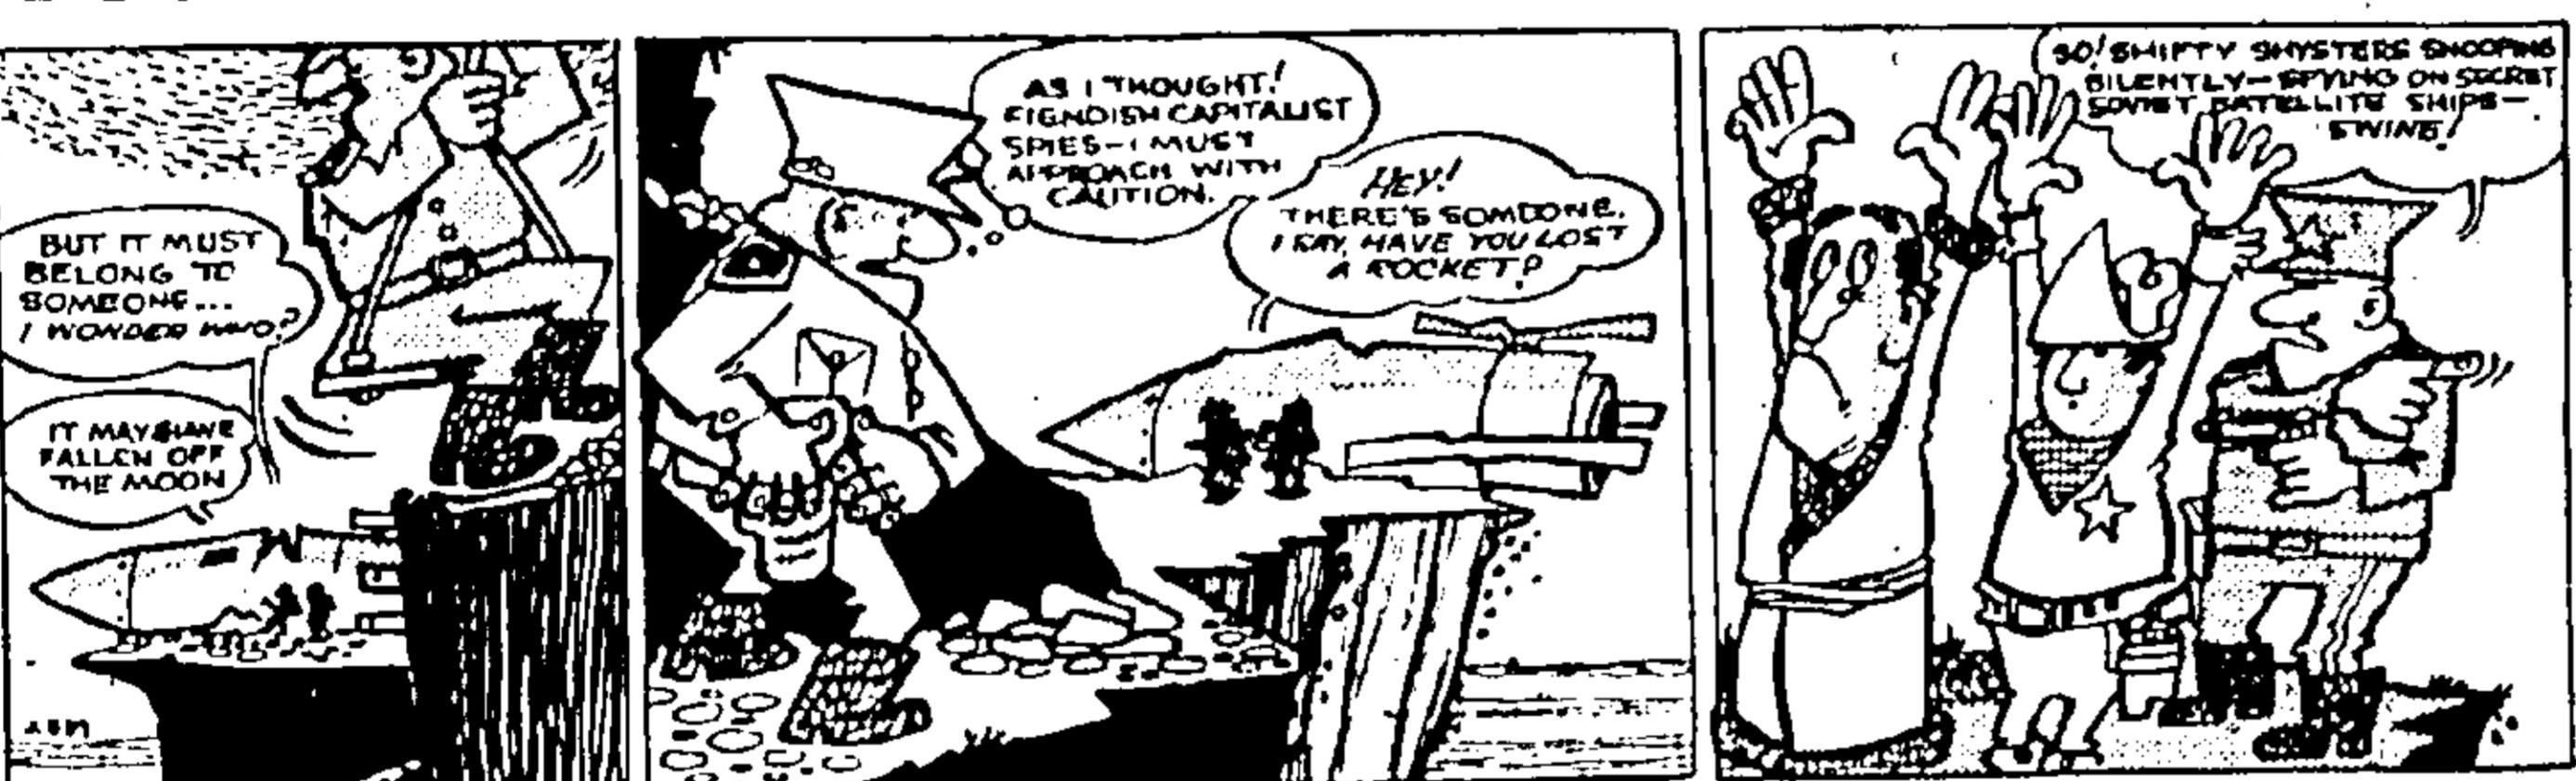

I hear that Real Madrid with three great inside-forwards on their books, PUSKAS, DIDI, and PELE, may switch Puskas to wing-half.

* * *

If you enjoy watching the stars of tomorrow take a good look at Fulham's talented right-half ALAN MULLERY.

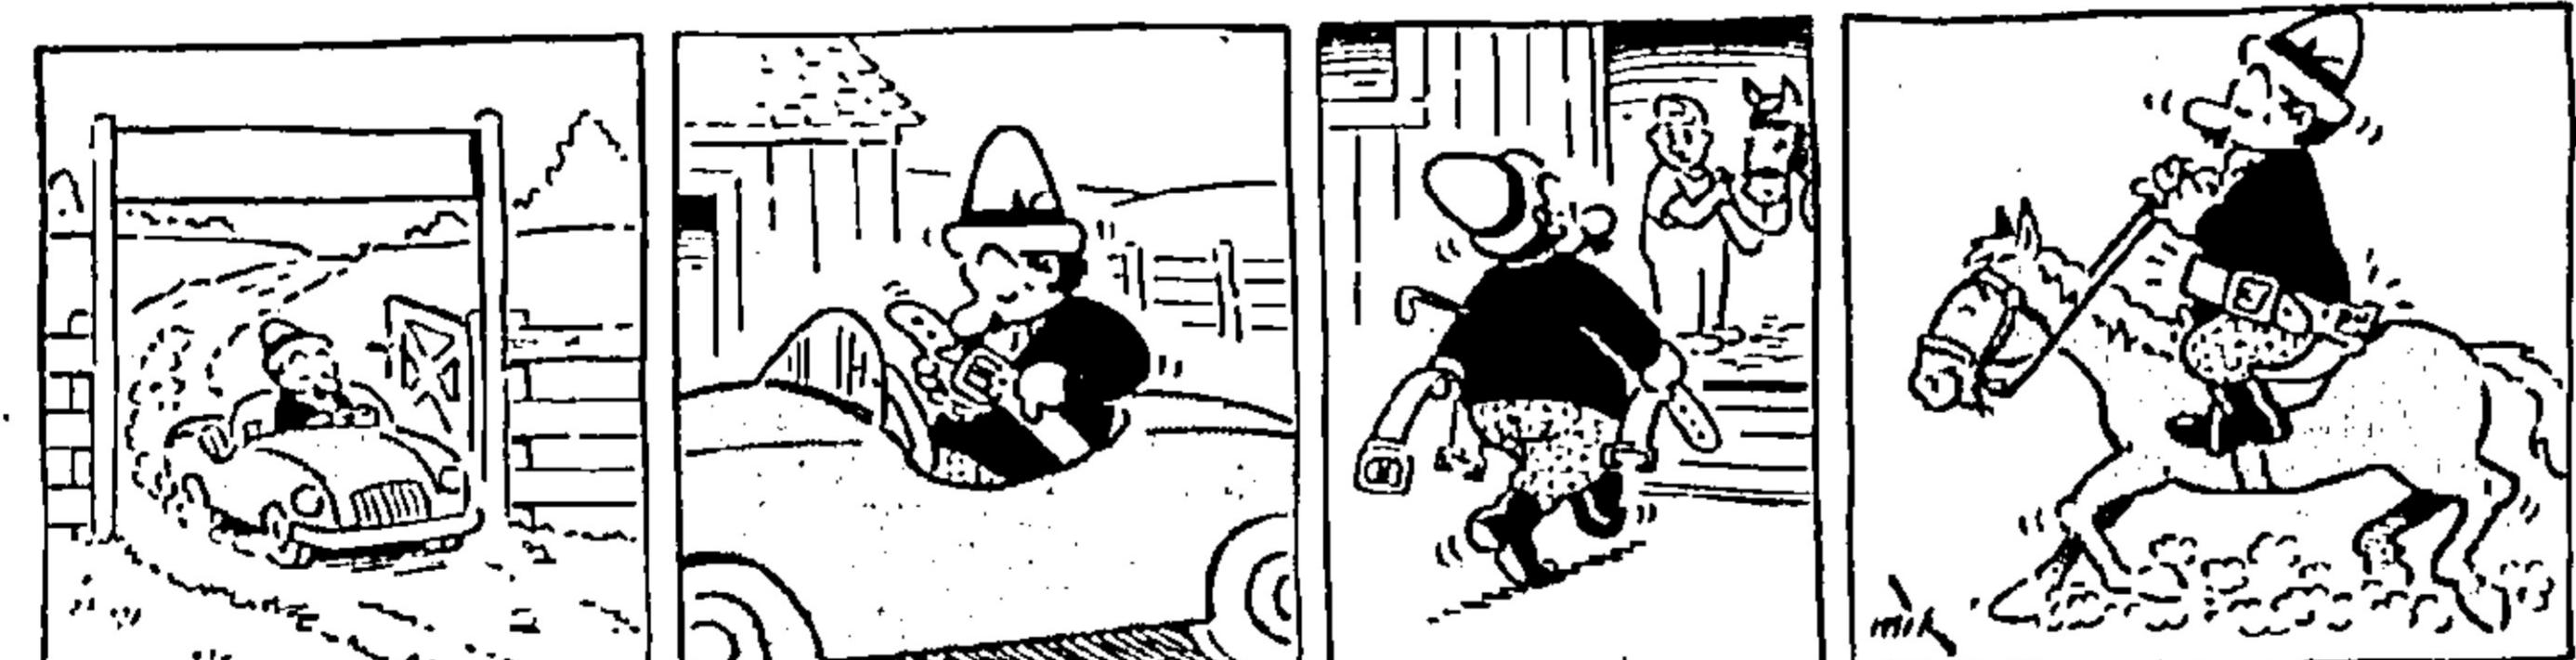

(All Rights Reserved)

FOUR D. JONES ...

by MADDOCKS

FERD'NAND

By Mik

HENRY LONGHURST on GOLF

HERE WE GO AGAIN

London, Nov. 1.
Boac announce the departure of their Britannia service to New York, Flight 581." In a few hours I hope to be hearing the familiar call and if it ever ceases to thrill I shall know that the time has come to call it a day.

It is indeed an agreeable prospect — the thought of the California desert and another Ryder Cup match, hard beside where the last one was played in America four years ago. This time the scene is to be the Eldorado Club.

What extraordinary people the Americans are! Only six weeks ago a friend was telling from Eldorado to say that, while the course had weathered the hottest part of the summer, the clubhouse, which is to be "very large, very unusual and very expensive," was not even finished.

Well In Keeping

This is well in keeping with the carefree spirit which comes over the most serious of people after a few days in the desert and is only one of the reasons for its rapidly becoming the playground of Western America.

It is not, in fact, desert but the most extraordinarily fertile ground, once you can find water. Thus they discovered 500 ft underground a desert oasis which since then golf courses, complete with full-sized palm trees, have been springing up all over the place.

I will quote for positively the last time the remark of the man I saw four years ago watering the two-inch high grass in front of his house, which he declared he had planted only a fortnight before.

"Yes, Sir," he said, "in these parts all you have to do is sow the seed, apply the water—and jump back."

A Feature

A feature of the coming match in which I am particularly interested is the fact that it will be the first to be televised in America. It will be a sponsored coast-to-coast broadcast and I look forward, when not shooting round the course in a small electric buggy—which is the way to catch golf, if not to play it—picking up any hints and tips that may be useful for our own golf television at home.

The very thought casts a melancholy on the soul, since any match that went the full 36 holes would undoubtedly taken nine hours. There is logic in the idea, since Americans rarely play anything other than foursomes, but I still hope we may be spared.

Having allowed patriotic optimism to creep into so many previous forecasts of matches in America, I have cheerfully prophesied for the last month on this occasion the British team will be brought in the foursomes and then, maintaining their form over the second day, get nought in the singles.

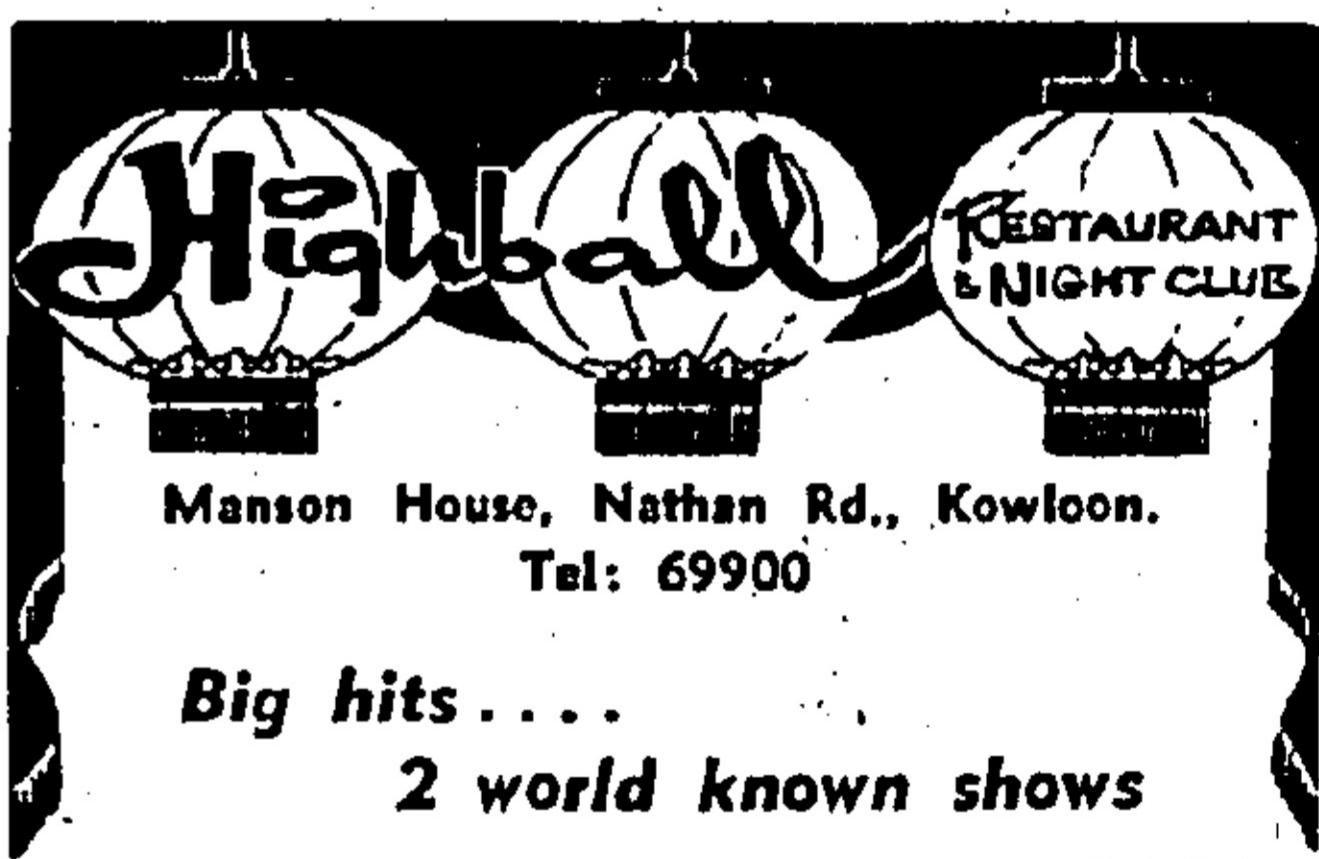

Glorious Victory

After saying this twice in public in the presence of the team I hope to have riled them into doing something a little better than their best and thus prove myself more wrong than usual.

Lindrick two years ago was indeed a glorious victory and revealed a sight I never thought to see, namely an entire team of tournament-hardened American professionals disintegrating, individually and collectively.

What has happened before can happen again but something tells me that it won't.

That match, for more reasons than one, left a slightly bitter taste—and revenge is sweet. The time has come to depart, California, Honolulu, Australia, New Zealand and "home the other way round." A hard life indeed!

Famed Hungarian Acro-tap Dancers RITA & ROBERTO from EUROPE

Dancing Celebrity The Bronx Venus JEFRI SPENCER from AMERICA

A VARIETY IN DANCING
2 Shows at 10 p.m. & 11:45 p.m. || 1 Show at 11:45 p.m.
NO INCREASE IN PRICE!
Superb Cantonese Cuisine . . . Our Speciality

ANY FIRM USING THE NAME APPLIED TO OUR "ZORIC" DRYCLEANING SYSTEM HAS NO CONNECTION WHATSOEVER WITH THE UNDERMENTIONED CO.

PLEASE TELEPHONE DIRECT TO 59195 FOR COLLECTIONS AND DELIVERIES

THE STEAM LAUNDRY CO.

No. 1, Kwong Wa Street, Kowloon.

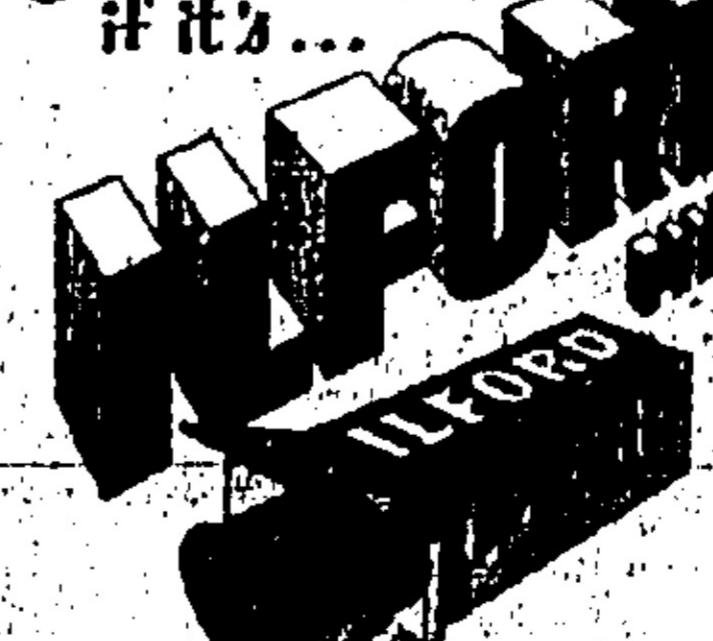

By Ernie Bushmiller

ROWNTREE'S

You can be SURE if it's...

NANCY

By Paul Norris

AIDING MALAYA'S OUTPUT

London Again Active

London, Nov. 2. Stock markets were active and strong today with flowing-in of orders from small investors.

Industrial equities were again in the centre of attraction with prices advanced on a broad front.

Gilted were again out of favour and in the face of some selling there were widespread falls ranging between 1/16 and 3/16. A feature of the quiet foreign bond market was some demand for Iron Curtain issues. Dollar stocks were mixed with the premium easing off at one time but recovering towards the close.

ROOTES STOCK

One of the highlights of the industrial market was the start of dealings in the new Rootes Motors 5½ per cent debenture stock. The £3.5 million offer for sale attracted over £62 million.

Most steels were well up. Engineering, electrical equipment and breweries were firm. Tobacco fell back after opening higher. Textiles met a good selective demand.

Gold shares met a selective demand some of which was on African account and diamonds responded to buying on a market short of stock. Tins were buoyant but copper's selective demand.

Oils were quietly firm with Trinidad issues outstanding.

Rubbers were active and firm.—UPI.

Closing Prices

Gilted Bonds: British Transport 3½%, 1978/80—£62.10d.

Consols 2½%—£52.10d.

Consols 4%—£77.10d.

Conversion Loan 3½%—1969—£79.10d.

Funding Loan 3%—1969/70—£79.10d.

Funding Loan 4%—1960/70—£79.10d.

Savings 2%—1955/65—£62.10d.

Savings 3%—1960/70—£79.10d.

Savings 3%—1965/75—£79.10d.

Banks: Barclays' Bank "A" Lid ord—61s.

Chartered Bank—60s.

Hongkong—£250s.

Insurance: Union Insurance Canton—£67.10d.

Aircraft and Motors: British Motor Corp. Ord—22s.

Ford Motor Co.—100s 6d.

Ironworks: Distillers Co.—17d.

Building and Materials: Associated Portland Cement—69s.

Pinch Johnson Associates Ord—29s 9d.

Coal, Steel & Engineering: Babcock & Wilcox Lid—45s.

Vickers Ltd—31s 10d.

Food and Tobacco: British American Tob. Co., Ltd—67s 9d.

Imperial Tobacco Co., Ltd—70s.

Miscellaneous: Bowater Paper Corp. Ord—60s.

Radio and Electrical: Associated Electrical Inds—22s.

Electric Musical—22s.

English Electric Co.—7s 9d.

General Electric—44s.

Shipping: Indo-China Steam Nav. Co. def ord—10s 10d.

P & G Steam Navigation def ord—3s 10d.

Stores: Great Universal Stores "A"—67s 7d.

Marks & Spencer Lid—7s 3d.

Woolworth F. W. & Co.—62s.

Textiles: J. P. Abbotts Ltd—7s 1d.

Courtlands Ltd—5s 2d.

Anglo-American Corp. of South Africa—20s 4d.

Com Goldfields of South Africa—20s 1d.

Cone Zinc Corp. Ord—7s 1d.

De Beers def—10s 3d.

East African Development & Investment—41s.

Hongkong Tin—1s 1d.

Raw Materials: Raw Southern Kinta Cons 21s—30s.

Union Corp—7s 1d.

West Afric Goldmining—18s.

West Rand Cons—23s 3d.

Oil: British Borneo Petroleum Syndicate—11d.

British Petroleum Co., Ltd—60s.

Burnell—40s 3d.

Royal Dutch Petroleum—21s.

Rail Transport & Trading—10s 3d.

Reuter.

Govt Sponsors 'Industrial Revolution'

Kuala Lumpur, Nov. 2. Malaya, whose prosperity is still firmly based on primary production, is undergoing a minor industrial revolution.

This movement, sponsored by a government programme to diversify production, is being encouraged by a tax-free offer for so-called "ioneer" industries. These are industries which the Government considers would improve the country's economy and which have not previously existed in Malaya.

To date, they number 34 industries with 189 products ranging from agricultural machinery through diamond polishing, various kinds of food preparations in land, and equally regenerative.

"Secondly, when the conviction is there, measures will have to be devised to channel this capital into institutions where it can readily and easily be tapped."

In this connection, the government would welcome the development of a money market and stock exchange which could do much to accelerate the industrial development of this country."

Usually reliable but unverified sources have also estimated that about $200 million have been invested in Malaya by Chinese in Hongkong and Singapore.

Companies with joint Malayan capital have been formed by Japanese, United States, and Australian concerns, and this process appears to be a continuation.

Expanded

The West Malayan ports of Penang and Port Swettenham, while not by any means rivaling Singapore at present, are being expanded under government schemes which envisage that, ultimately, the bulk of the country's exports and imports will be channelled through these two places.

Although the tonnage handled at Port Swettenham is still not great, its capacity is being increased. In the last three months, 22,000 tons of goods were handled, an all-time record and 20,000 tons more than for the same period of 1958.

Facilities are being increased but cannot yet meet the demands of shippers.

Malaya, while realising that tin and rubber must remain the backbone of her economy for many years to come, is seeking ways and means of spreading her economy over a wider area and providing employment for her steadily increasing population.

Rice and fruit growing are being encouraged. Fishing co-operatives are in operation. Now, a reality in Malaya. This, he said, is well under way.—Reuter.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

New York Remains Firm On Moderate Trading

New York, Nov. 2. Electronics paced a firm and moderate stock market today. Demand for these issues continued with gains in IBM and Westinghouse. General Telephone ran up a gain of around two.

Thiokol ran up more than a point in the rocket fuels. Union Carbide trading ex-dividend picked up more than two.

Stearns were dull for the most part and somewhat easy. Bethlehem and U.S. Steel trading ex-dividend dropped fractions. Youngstown was unchanged.

MOTORS UP

Chrysler advanced around a point in the motors, Studebaker-Packard more than a point, American Motors around two.

U.S. Rubber added more than a point in its section. Reynolds Tobacco, a major friction, and City Products among the specials tacked on more than five.

Today's volume was 3,220,000 shares.

Of a total 1,201 issues traded 642 were higher and 546 lower.

American Exchange volume was 1,120,000 shares.

Bonds volume amounted to $6,330,000.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source added, notably products which could imperil national industries such as the textile trade, and products on which Britain has signed special agreements with Commonwealth countries.

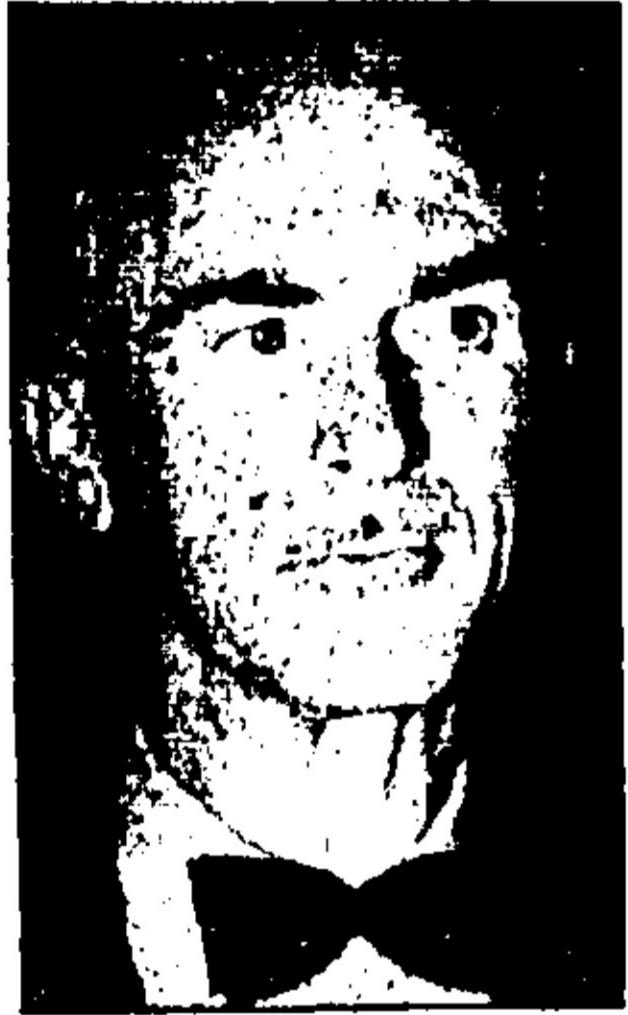

The move to free imports will principally affect products from the dollar zone, the source stated.

Quota restrictions will be retained on a few foreign imports, the source

MAN WHO PULLED KNIFE ON POLICEMEN IN GAOL AGAIN

A man who pulled a flick-knife on two policemen who tried to search him after a chase through western district, was today sentenced to three years' gaol by Central Magistrate Mr T. L. Yang.

Return Of District Court Judge

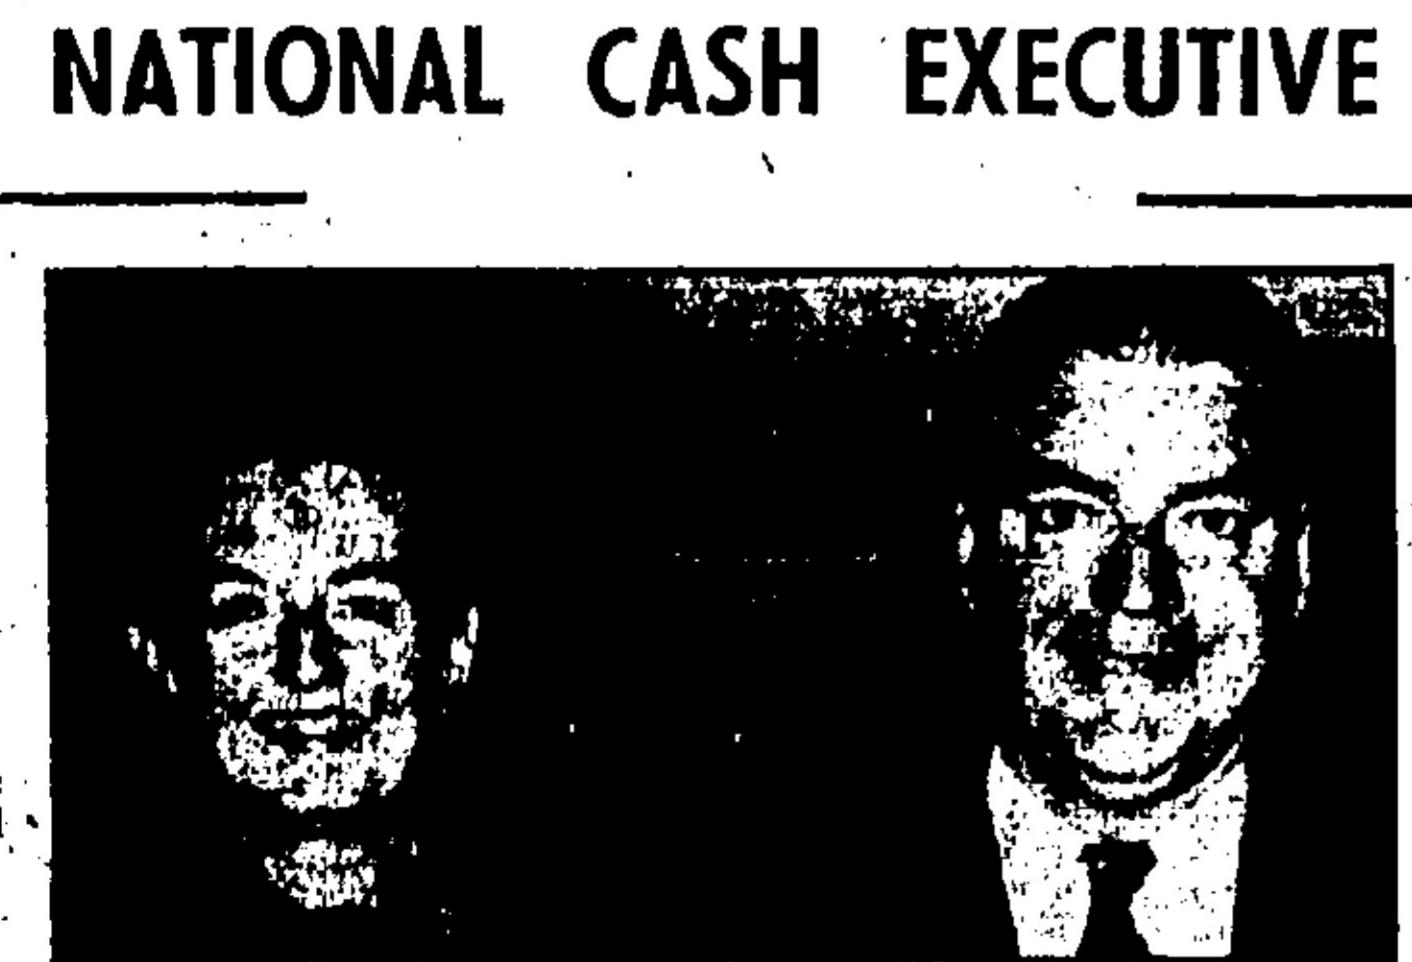

MR BLAIR-KERR

Mr W. A. Blair-Kerr, newly appointed District Court Judge, and Chairman of the Hongkong Philharmonic Orchestra, returned in the rms Chusan this morning after six months' home leave.

He was greeted on arrival by Mr M. Heenan, acting Solicitor General, Mr J. Bodily, crown counsel, Mr L. Alltree, Chief Justice, Supreme Court, Mr D. J. F. Fraser, Organiser of Music, Education Department, and Deputy Chairman of the Hongkong Philharmonic Orchestra, Prof. A. Fan, conductor of the orchestra, and Mr M. H. Fan, secretary of the orchestra.

Theft Of Cameras From Car

Two cameras, valued at $1,500, were stolen from a private car parked outside 5, Granville Road between last night and this morning. —AFP.

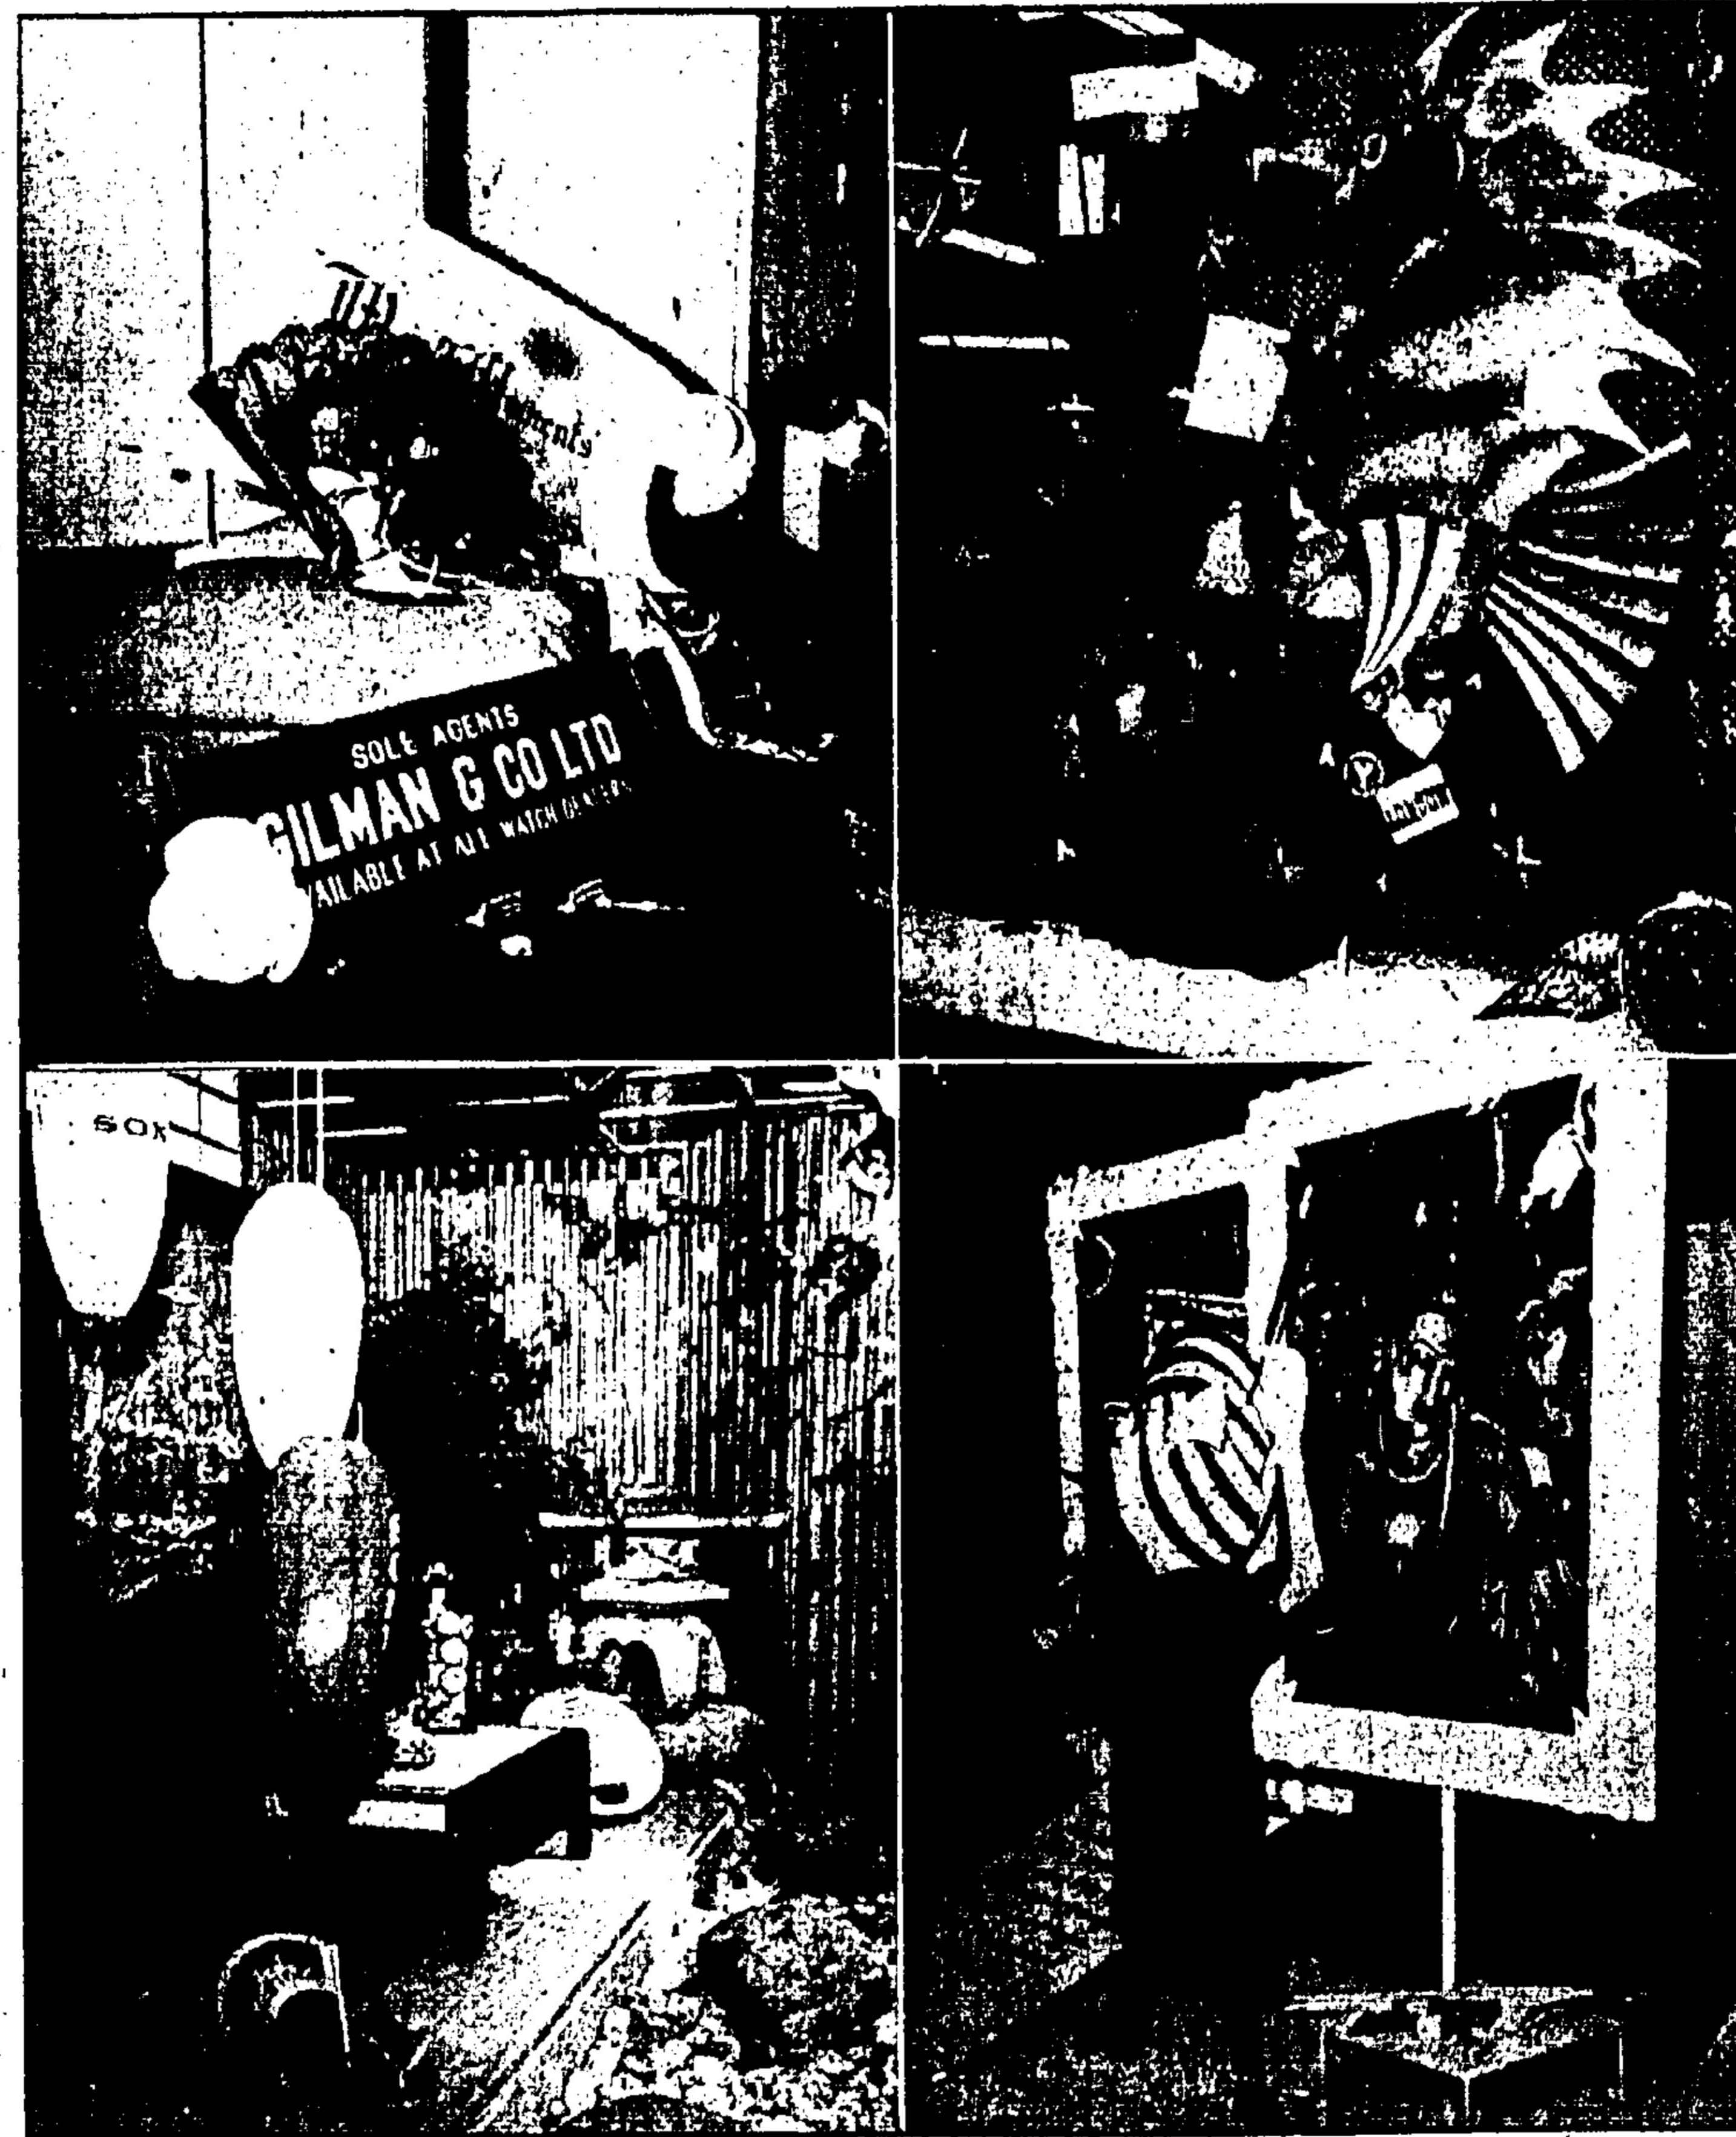

Mr. D. K. Hughes, accompanied by his wife, left by Swissair this morning for Zurich. Completing a five-day stay in the City, Mr. Hughes, head of overseas manufacturing and engineering division, National Cash Register Co., Dayton, Ohio, is travelling around the world visiting the factories and stations of National Cash Register.

While in Hongkong, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson. Mr. Anderson is Managing Director, National Cash Register Co. Ltd.

The photo shows Mr. and Mrs. Hughes at Kai Tak Airport prior to their departure.—Inset photo.

Printed and published by TERENCE GORDON NEWLANDS PEARCE for and on behalf of South China Morning Post Limited at 1-3 Wyndham Street, City of Victoria in the Colony of Hongkong.

Window Competition Exhibits

Above are four pictures taken by our staff photographer showing exhibits in the window dressing competition which is being held in conjunction with the Festival of the Arts. The top left window is that of Gilman & Co. Ltd, on the top right is Dodwell's travel department, on the lower left, Tsang Fook & Co. Ltd, and lower right, Air India International.

TORIES DEFEAT CENSURE ON AFRICAN POLICY

London, Nov. 2. The Government tonight won its first vote of confidence since the October 8 general election by defeating by 83 votes a Labour censure on government policy in British Central Africa.

The voting was 344 to 251. The Labour resolution attacked the Government for maintaining the state of emergency in Nyasaland and for keeping Dr Hastings Banda and other African nationalist chieftains in detention. —AFP.

NATIONAL CASH EXECUTIVE

Mr. R. H. Robertson, stables manager of the Hongkong Jockey Club, returned with his wife and two children, Sheila and Gordon, in the rms Chusan this morning from home leave. They are seen in the above picture taken by our photographer.

Man Detained

A Chinese man was wounded at about 10 p.m. last night when he was attacked by another man armed with a knife in the Wong Tai Sin Resettlement Area, Kowloon City. The injured person was admitted to Kowloon Hospital for treatment.

A man was later detained by the Police in connection with the case.

Swedish Cabinet Minister In HK

Mr Herman Kling, Swedish Cabinet Minister, who represented the Swedish Government at the GATT conference in Tokyo, arrived in Hongkong this morning for a one-day private visit. He was met at the airport by Mr Torsten Chr. Boerck, Swedish Consul in Hongkong.

Funeral Of CAS Warden

The funeral of Mr Jackson Hau, a CAS Post Warden who collapsed and died at the Government Stadium in the CAS Annual Field Day on Sunday morning, took place at Kowloon this afternoon.

A large contingent of CAS men and women paid their last respects at the Kowloon Funeral Parlour, Tsimshatsui, before the cortège left for burial in Wo Hop Shek Cemetery, New Territories.

The coffin was draped with the emblem of the CAS. The late Mr Hau collapsed soon after he and his squat march to the Stadium from Kellet Island where they had landed earlier after crossing over from Kowloon to take part in the drill.

The late Mr Hau, 52, had been with the CAS for the last six years.

Surviving him are his widow, a daughter who is a teacher, and a son, soon to complete secondary school education.

Theft From Office

Thieves broke into the English Electric Company's site office in Electric Road, North Point early yesterday morning and stole a clock and a pipe to the total value of $120. Four men were later arrested.

Mr Alex L. Stierli, Swissair's flight operations officer in Bombay, arrived this morning from India on the airline's flight to spend a week's vacation in Hongkong before taking up a new Swissair assignment.

TOMORROW'S FASHION SHOW

The white satin ballgown given by Mohan's is worn by Miss Gloria Baker, the Hongkong Debutante, in the fashion show of that name tomorrow at the Diocesan Girls' School. On the right is Mrs Lynda Reeves, given by Vouge in aid of the school charities.

The Diocesan Girls' School in Kowloon will be the setting for the first "Hongkong Debutante" charity fashion show to be presented tomorrow at 4:30 and 8:15 p.m. Mrs. Maria Fischer and Mrs. Nancy Wong, co-Chairmen of the fashion show committee, are being assisted by a group of ladies including Mrs Gladys Mok, Honorary Secretary, and Mrs Eva Leonard, convenor of the programme sub-committee. Boys of the St James' Settlement are presenting the programmes under supervision of the Rev. Denham Cray. Leading couturiers on both sides of the harbour are giving exclusive fashions for the show. The bridal gown library and the exquisite ballgown given by Boutique 111 and Mohan's respectively are both modelled in the final scenes by Miss Gloria Baker, DGS girl from her kindergarten days.

UNIVERSITY LECTURER RETURNS

DR GRAY

Dr Doris Gray, Senior physiology lecturer in the University of Hongkong, returned in the rms Chusan this morning from a six-month holiday in Canada, Holland and the United Kingdom.

Dr Gray was met on arrival by Prof. L Kilborn, Professor in physiology, University of Hongkong, Mrs Kilborn, and Mrs Alleen M. Dekker, Chairman of the Music Society of Hongkong.

Dr Gray is the China Mail's music critic.

'Mystery' Woman In Hongkong?

A Filipina, dubbed "Madam Mystery," was reported to have arrived secretly in Hongkong after the Philippines cracked down on a big international smuggling ring.

She was suspected of being one of the important people in the organisation.

A Government spokesman said this afternoon that the Hongkong Police have not received any request from the Interpol to investigate the matter.

Mrs P. Webster, wife of Wing-Cdr C. A. Webster, Sports Editor, South China Morning Post, arrived with two children in the rms Chusan this morning from the United Kingdom to join her husband.

From the Files

25 years AGO

November, 1934

At a meeting of the Sanitary Board in 1909, said the SCM Post's 25 years ago column, the Hon. Mr. A. E. Hewlett stated that he altogether objected to the division made in the Colonial Cemetery between seven year residents and 20 year residents.

"We are all equal when we are in the cemetery," he said.

★ ★ ★

S.C. Feltham of the PWD was yesterday cautioned by Mr E. W. Hamilton at the Central Magistracy on two summonses of obstruction in Mount Kellett Road on October 29, and placing his car No. 405 on a closed road without a permit.

Traffic Inspector Alexander sold defendant left his car on a bend in Mount Kellett Road and Dr Montgomery telephoned the police that he could not get his car past.

Dr Montgomery got some cooies to move the obstructing car and later Sergeant Harris went up to remove the car which had apparently broken down.

★ ★ ★

His Excellency the Governor has provisionally and subject to His Majesty's pleasure appointed the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall to be temporary an Unofficial member of the Executive Council in the place of the Hon Sir Shouson Chow, who is temporarily absent from the Colony.

★ ★ ★

HONGKONG made a glorious effort to snatch the tennis Interpol from Canton yesterday when after facing a deficit of two rubbers, Tsui Wai-pui beat Lai Kwong-tsuen in a five set duel and S. A. Rumjahn of Hongkong forced George Bodikir to the fifth set. Bodikir proved his master after a wonderful game, and clinched the final set to love and with it the Interpol honours. Canton won by three rubbers to one.